Research and Revelations for Impossible Landscapes

HAVE YOU SEEN THE YELLOW SIGN?

The King in Yellow. A simple play twists thoughts and perceptions, twists reality itself. Its beautiful, poisonous words awaken realizations that make the audience long for the peace of ignorance. It first touched the stage in the dying light of the 19th century and has arisen again and again to bring to human souls the bitter satisfaction of despair.

Delta Green, a conspiracy dedicated to stopping unnatural terrors, enacted the STATIC Protocol as a ruthless response to the threat of The King in Yellow. That work comes to terrifying fruition in Impossible Landscapes, a massive campaign for Delta Green: The Role-Playing Game. Impossible Landscapes presents Agents with dreadful discoveries that spiral in upon themselves like the twists of the Yellow Sign itself.

Delta Green: STATIC Protocol enhances Impossible Landscapes by collecting even deeper research from its sprawling timeline. Agents can piece together these fragments as they pursue secrets they may regret. Secrets of otherworldly power. Of murder and memory that lengthen like the shadows cast by sinking suns. Of an invitation to a masquerade that never ends and is the end of all things. Of the bitter truths of Carcosa, The King in Yellow, and the Yellow Sign.

STATIC Protocol

IMPOSSIBLE LANDSCAPES FEATURES A DETAILED timeline of its background: THE KING IN HISTORY, beginning on page 32 of Impossible Landscapes. Agents can progress through the enormity of the campaign touching on those details only here and there, leaving those unfound as context for the Handler. But an even richer campaign is possible. Here we rework the timeline to offer each item, each event as a new and bitter discovery that Agents might uncover if they follow the golden threads that connect the victims and servants of King in Yellow.

Research and Revelations

Reaching these poisonous depths of discovery is as simple as drowning.

- » A player says what the Agent seeks and where and how they are looking.
- » The Handler reviews subjects here to see what might be available. The Handler says what skill or stat roll is required and how long may take.
- » The player attempts the roll.
- » The Handler reveals the consequences.

Ars Goetia

See DR. BARBAS'S ARS GOETIA on page 159 of Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

7 AUG 1995: A Delta Green friendly in the New York FBI recognizes an occult symbol in the photographs of Abigail Wright's apartment as related to the Ars Goetia, a famous occult tome. Delta Green is alerted.

"Auteur X"

See TRUE ORIGINS on page 27 of Impossible Landscapes.

Government Records

Archives, Police nationale, Paris, France.

5 AUG 1895: The Sûreté issue a special alert for anyone fitting the description of Auteur X to local stations in Paris.

Government Records

Archives, Direction générale de la sécurité extérieure, Paris, France.

6 AUG 1895: Rehearsals begin for Le Roi en jaune. Agents of Deuxième Bureau, pre-World War II French military intelligence, stake out the theater in the hope of apprehending Auteur X. He does not appear.

The Deuxième Bureau File (1895–1951)

The Agents may find this file in the Missing Room. See THE MISSING ROOM on page 246 of Impossible Landscapes.

12 JUL 1895: After the death of President Jean Casimir-Perier's personal secretary Marie-Ange Reverdin, French agents of the Deuxième Bureau investigate Le Roi en jaune and burn copies. They believe the book was written by a foreigner, someone they call "Auteur X" or "X".

5 AUG 1895: The Sûreté issue a special alert for anyone fitting the description of Auteur X to local stations in Paris.

6 AUG 1895: Rehearsals begin for Le Roi en jaune. Deuxième Bureau agents stake out the theater in the hope of apprehending Auteur X. He does not appear.

23 AUG 1895: Le Roi en jaune opens to sold-out crowds. It is the talk of Paris. The small venue means it is nearly impossible to secure a ticket. The Deuxième Bureau permits the show to continue in the hopes of capturing Auteur X.

Timothy Bael

Timothy Bael is described on pages 182–183 of Impossible Landscapes.

Government Records

Los Angeles, California, USA.

12 OCT 1984: Timothy Bael, future inmate at the Dorchester House psychiatric facility, is born in Los Angeles, California.

Elias Barbas

Dr. Elias Barbas is described on page 146 of Impossible Landscapes. Researching him is covered on Impossible Landscapes page 139.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

30 AUG 1955: Elias Barbas is born.

24 JUN 2015: Delta Green notices strange behavior by veteran agent Elias Barbas. It organizes Operation MERCY to investigate him, led by Michael Witwer of the DEA (Delta Green Agent Vega).

Government Records

City Clerk's Office, Archives and Records Management, Boston, Massachusetts, USA.

21 MAY 1924: The future home of Dr. Elias Barbas is completed in Boston.

Police Records

Massachusetts State Police, Boston, Massachusetts, USA.

8 JUN 2015: Dr. Elias Barbas of the Massachusetts crime lab assaults Boston Police Department Detective Emeline Skehan. She claims he was writing out something longhand, which he hid before attacking her.

10 JUN 2015: Dr. Elias Barbas sends an apology email to Emeline Skehan.

Recollections of Trooper Michael Dawkin

Massachusetts State Police, Boston, Massachusetts, USA.

11 JUL 2015: Trooper Michael Dawkin and other friends of Dr. Elias Barbas of the Massachusetts crime lab attempt to talk him down from his increasingly erratic behavior. The officers see mechanical parts in his house and glimpse an attractive woman clothed in white.

Recollections of the Residents of the Night Floors of the Dorchester House

The Agents may converse with Night Floors residents after they are trapped in the Dorchester House at night. See page 215 of Impossible Landscapes. The Handler should convey these items through conversation rather than handouts.

28 MAY 2015: Dr. Richard Dallan informs Dr. Elias Barbas that multiple Delta Green agents, long in psychiatric isolation at the Dorchester House, have vanished from locked rooms and restraints.

29 MAY 2015: Dr. Elias Barbas is activated to investigate the vanishing of Delta Green agents in psychiatric custody at the Dorchester House. He thinks it is Delta Green activating him. It is the King in Yellow through Dr. Dallan.

1 JUN 2015: Dr. Barbas is compromised by the power of the King in Yellow. He travels the Night World in the Dorchester House.

2 JUN 2015: A man fitting Emmet Moseby's description delivers a typewritten English copy of The King in Yellow to Dr. Barbas at his home in Medford, Boston. Reading the book sends Barbas to new heights of insanity. He rips up the book and wears it beneath his clothing as a cocoon. He is compelled to write it out, over and over again, believing he is its author.

4 JUN 2015: Dr. Barbas collects strange papers from the Night World, including plans for mechanical creatures, occult symbols, and copies of the Deuxième Bureau file. He stores them in the trunk of his car.

6 JUN 2015: Dr. Barbas begins building a mechanical guardian called "the Lion" from plans he found in the Night World.

10 JUN 2015: Dr. Barbas begins building a machine called "the Scribe" from plans he found in the Night World.

10 JUL 2015: Dr. Barbas begins printing and delivering copies of the Red Book to unknown parties through the red door in his house in Medford.

2 AUG 2015: A box, sent from Dr. Barbas, arrives at Ophelia Sitri's home in Las Vegas. Inside are a brass statue of a cherub and a note that depicts the Yellow Sign.

4-9 AUG 2015: Ophelia Sitri hangs posters and stickers of the Yellow Sign around two neighborhoods near her home.

13 AUG 2015: Ophelia Sitri posts a photo of the Yellow Sign on her Facebook page. She begins digging beneath her house. The brass cherub awakens and begins patrolling her house.

27 AUG 2015: In Dr. Barbas's house, the machine called "The Scribe" spontaneously creates a cheat sheet listing information about the players' Agents and prints invitations for those Agents to meet Dr. Barbas.

Marvin Bloom

Dr. Marvin Bloom aka Agent MARCUS is described on page 69 of Impossible Landscapes.

Government Records

Jamaica, New York, USA.

2 SEP 1960: Marvin Bloom is born in Queens, New York.

The Brotherhood of Doors

The obscure Brotherhood of Doors was formative to Ian Decraig and Asa Daribondi.

Strange Religions and False Gods in America

Book by Brewster Ellis; Stranger Press, 1976.

1 MAY 1897: Ian F. Decraig founds a Chicago religious order called "The Brotherhood of Doors." The final performance of Le Roi en jaune was the most revelatory experience of Decraig's life, but he never saw the end. The three members of the Brotherhood of Doors, all well-to-do witnesses to the play in 1895, are obsessed with piecing together a complete script.

The Personal Journals of Ian F. Decraig (1892–1905)

In the archived records of the Illinois Department of Corrections, Springfield, Illinois, USA.

1 MAY 1897: Ian F. Decraig founds a Chicago religious order called “The Brotherhood of Doors.” The final performance of Le Roi en jaune was the most revelatory experience of Decraig’s life, but he never saw the end. The three members of the Brotherhood of Doors, all well-to-do witnesses to the play in 1895, are obsessed with piecing together a complete script.

1904: Seventeen-year-old Henry Lundine becomes involved briefly with Ian F. Decraig and the Brotherhood of Doors, meeting them through shared contacts at the Thoth-Hermes temple.

23 AUG 1905: After eight years of piecing together Le Roi en jaune, the Brotherhood of Doors completes their version of the play rendered in Latin. They print 11 copies at a vanity press at great expense, in a lavender hardcover. It is titled Libro Secretorum Manifesta (“The Book of Secrets”), without a listed author or printer. Ian F. Decraig begins preliminary work in securing a performance space in Chicago and places notices in papers looking for actors and singers.

12 APR 1905: After his aunt reveals her presence in Decraig’s life, Asa Daribondi becomes a member of the Brotherhood of Doors under Ian F. Decraig, who feels the youth is touched by the power of the King in Yellow. Daribondi, who has always felt exceptional and strange, eagerly embraces the religion to whom he is the messiah.

The Castaigne/ Chastaigne Family

From the Chastaignes to the Castaignes to Daribondi, the would-be heirs to the King in Yellow draw far more of humanity than Delta Green to the horrors of Impossible Landscapes.

Architectural Oddities of Medieval Europe

Book by Rupert Walters; Harcourt Brace, 1966.

MAY 1402: The 15th-century Chastaigne house of Reims is considered strange because its every wall contains a door, even those opening to the outside on upper floors. The builder, Michel Chastaigne, is rumored to have disappeared inside after placing his affairs in careful order. Little is known about him.

JANUARY 1403: After announcing he had cracked the cypher of cousin Michel Chastaigne, Augustus Chastaigne keeps a book detailing his experiments in "operating" the codes. This mostly appears to mean opening certain doors in the house while calling set phrases and names into them. He claims he has found secret doors to "a school, a hospital, a book seller, catacombs, an inn, and a great metropolis, all within these walls."

1425: Gabriel Chastaigne purchases Château des Portes back from various intermediaries, having somehow come into possession of a new fortune.

The Dream of Perpetual Motion

Book by Elizabeth T. Calhoun; Solid Stars Publishers, 1988.

1423: Seigneur Gabriel Chastaigne turns 21 and is given his father's letter and the contents of the lockbox, as well as his papers as a journeyman clockmaker. He vanishes for two years.

1435: The estate of Seigneur Gabriel Castaigne (née Chastaigne) is reported to be filled with marvels of clockwork. Castaigne has spent years building automata, clocks, and small, spring-based machines.

1446: Rumors spread that Seigneur Gabriel Chastaigne's father had discovered the secret to perpetual motion and passed it on to his son.

France's Greatest Hauntings

Book by Avent Josseume; Gautier-Languereau, 1936.

28 AUG 1402: Augustus Chastaigne, his wife Louise Chastaigne, and their son Gabriel Chastaigne take up residence in the Château des Portes along with their staff.

OCTOBER 1402: Augustus' wife, Louise, exits a door on the third floor of a tower and falls to her death.

NOVEMBER 1402: Chastaigne servants report seeing odd people in the house at night: men in masks and silver robes, a specter with its head on fire, and at least one sighting of Louise Chastaigne, a month dead. Augustus Chastaigne begins buying books on codes and cyphers from Paris, Geneva, and Verdun at great expense, spending his inheritance. All mark him as a "haggard and ill-shadowed."

The Hidden History of the Occult Tradition

Book by Dr. James M. Hoey; Golden Hoard Press, 1922.

OCTOBER 1402: Augustus Chastaigne finds a book addressed to him, written by Michel Chastaigne. It urges him to continue the family's work. This strange book ("bound in wire") is filled with codes and cyphers credited to "Solomon," with much of its writing in an "odd English."

JANUARY 1403: All but two servants leave the Chastaigne estate because "the lord there is quite mad."

1441: Rumors circulate that Seigneur Gabriel Castaigne published his father's work Hygromanteia under the name Solomon in Paris. The book is seen in many places across the continent.

28 AUG 1460: Gabriel Castaigne vanishes, leaving behind a jumble of strange papers outlining a ritual or process that later occultists call the Preliminary Invocation, and a sigil for a demon called Purson scratched into the floor of the main hall.

L'illuminisme en France

Book by Louis-Claude de Saint Martin; Librairie Générale des Sciences Occultes, 1902.

FEBRUARY 1403: Augustus Chastaigne, having gained new information which he claims came from "a bottle," begins a new book called Hygromanteia. He signs it "Solomon." His notes indicate he is regularly talking to "demons in the doors that show signs, sigils and marks." His new book is a listing of such names and seals, along with other spells and secrets.

MARCH 1403: Augustus Chastaigne finishes Hygromanteia and is "shown the truth of the world," by an entity called Bael. Bael says the book is a livre rouge ("red book") that will birth the "king of this world." Augustus writes this all in a letter to his son. He hangs himself in Château des Portes and is buried in the family crypt. Rumors abound that he confessed to pushing his wife to her death.

The Occult, Codes, and Cyphers in France

Book by Emil Braeton; G.P. Putnam's Sons, 1939.

APRIL 1403: Édouard Allard, personal servant to Augustus Chastaigne, delivers a letter by lockbox to clockmaker Dominic Antonin in Rouen, France. Gabriel Chastaigne leaves school to be apprenticed with Antonin.

1405: Édouard Allard is found dead with his throat cut in a Paris apartment where for more than a year he had been selling rare books on codes and cyphers, thought stolen from the collection of Augustus Chastaigne. The room is empty when he is found dead. His face is branded with a "foul mark like an eye or a dragon."

Church Records

Archives, department of Marne, Reims, France.

28 AUG 1402: Seigneur Augustus Chastaigne, his wife Louise, and their son Gabriel take up residence in the Château des Portes in Reims along with their staff.

OCTOBER 1402: Seigneur Augustus Chastaigne's wife, Louise, is buried in the family crypt.

OCTOBER 1402: Gabriel Chastaigne is sent away to the Institution Saint-Malo La Providence for his education.

MARCH 1403: The Chastaigne estate, including Augustus' notes and books, are sold at auction to cover his vast debts, but some of his work is missing.

1426: Seigneur Gabriel Castaigne spends great amounts of money from an unknown fortune to restore Château des Portes.

Church Records

Archives, department of Paris, Paris, France.

MAY 1402: Seigneur Augustus Chastaigne is a sober-minded lesser noble in Paris, France. He inherits the Château des Portes, an isolated estate in Reims that was built sometime in the 11th century.

1426: Seigneur Gabriel Castaigne, formerly Chastaigne, is registered and confirmed as a lord by royal pronouncement. He is described as an "artificer."

Chateau des Portes

The infamous home of the Chastaignes and Castaignes

Architectural Oddities of Medieval Europe

See THE CASTAIGNE/CHASTAIGNE FAMILY on page 8.

Automata in the History of Technology

Book by Dr. Ronald Schmidt; G. Bell and Sons, Ltd., 1944.

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

20 JUL 1945: U.S. Army intelligence finds many Deuxième Bureau files at the Château des Portes. Because they include files relating to the Nazi occult program the Karotechia, they are remanded to Delta Green. They remain in storage in Washington for seven years.

Victor Correll

See page 28 of Impossible Landscapes.

StrangeOdyssey.com

Online.

12 NOV 2006: Victor Correll begins filming A Song Before Travel, a short film based on The King in Yellow.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

17 OCT 2006: Luisa Reggie's boyfriend, Victor Correll, attended an all-boys' religious school and is fluent in Latin. He begins reading The King in Yellow.

22 OCT 2006: Victor Correll begins working on a screenplay based on The King in Yellow.

31 OCT 2006: Victor Correll goes to the KISS FM Halloween party as a giant figure robed in tattered gold and wearing a white mask. He hands out 23 photostatic copies of The King in Yellow in Latin as a "prop." These are actual copies of the play.

12 NOV 2006: Victor Correll begins filming A Song Before Travel, a short film based on The King in Yellow.

2 APR 2007: Victor Correll completes A Song Before Travel. He posts a two-minute trailer on YouTube. The video is flagged by a Delta Green web search due to its incorporation of the Yellow Sign. Delta Green agents struggle to have the video removed and to reduce its views.

9 APR 2007: After receiving 190,000 views, the trailer of A Song Before Travel catches the eye of Hollywood producer Simon Kirkland. Kirkland begins talking to director Victor Correll and finds him fascinating and strange.

5 MAY 2007: A Song Before Travel has a single showing at the Granada Theater in Chicago, a "Thought House" designed by Asa Daribondi. The show is interrupted by a group of people breaking in the fire door and rushing in front of the screen, including a man in a gas mask.

6 MAY 2007: The first death related to the A Song Before Travel occurs 44 minutes after the screening ends. A Delta Green Outlaw team activates operation ACTIVE STATIC in an attempt to stop an outbreak of the King in Yellow in Chicago. Luisa Reggie is found in her home on the lake, having apparently hanged herself at least a month before.

6-22 MAY 2007: Delta Green agents from ACTIVE STATIC engage in theft and murder to keep The King in Yellow from spreading widely. Copies of the play and Victor Correll's film A Song Before Travel are located and destroyed. The Night World opens in Correll's apartment in Chicago and Correll nearly escapes. Three Delta Green agents confront and are killed by a figure Correll identifies as "The King." Two Delta Green agents secure Correll and flee the building.

23 MAY 2007: Delta Green purges A Song Before Travel from YouTube as a copyright violation. For-hire blackhat teams delete the trailer from servers all over the world. Director Victor Correll vanishes in custody. The two remaining Delta Green agents, after suffering mental instability, are eliminated. Nearly 300 people have died after this single exposure to The King in Yellow.

Richard Dallan

Dr. Richard Dallan is described on page 184 of Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

3 FEB 1953: Dr. Richard Dallan is born in Austin, Texas.

12 OCT 1984: Dr. Richard Dallan serves as a friendly on Delta Green Operation LOST WEEKEND.

1986: Delta Green founds the St. Dymphna Foundation as a Maryland charity. It serves solely to funnel money to Dr. Richard Dallan to found and run a facility to treat mental trauma.

Asa Daribondi

Research into Daribondi is discussed on page 73 of Impossible Landscapes.

Architecture, Genius and Mental Illness

Book by Dr. Peter Johansson; Avalon Works, 1961.

28 MAY 1886: Asa Daribondi, architect linked to the King in Yellow, is born in Paris to Miriam Daribondi and an unknown father. He becomes an American citizen on 6 JUN 1887 when his family arrives in New York. They soon settle in Chicago.

1905-1921: Asa Daribondi becomes a local celebrity. He builds ten "Thought Houses" between 1905 and 1921 for Chicago luminaries. These strange buildings are marked by optical illusions and strange shapes, and are considered avant-garde. The press calls the youth "the Picasso of architecture."

2 DEC 1911: Construction is completed on the Bellefleur House in the Oak Park neighborhood of Chicago: a "Thought Building" designed by Asa Daribondi for the wealthy Fitzroy family.

10 MAY 1921: New York millionaire Henry Lundine hires Asa Daribondi to build what will become the Macallistar Building in New York City.

Asa Daribondi's Journal (1921-1950)

In possession of the New York City police: Municipal Library, New York Department of Records and Information Services, New York, New York, USA.

6 MAY 1921: Asa Daribondi goes east on a whim and checks into the first hotel to catch his eye: Hotel Broadalbin.

10 MAY 1921: New York millionaire Henry Lundine, the owner of several textile mills, is an admirer of Ian Decraig. He hopes to secure a copy of Le Roi en jaune from the architect, but Daribondi never indicates he possesses one.

23 MAY 1921: Asa Daribondi receives a phone call at Hotel Broadalbin. The caller claims his name is "Bale" and that he "serves the king."

29 MAY 1921: Asa Daribondi is overcome with a monstrous depression and expresses a desire to kill himself. He is consoled "by friends at the hotel," including "Wilde, Gary T., and Roark."

1 JUN 1921: Desperate and terrified by his own actions, Asa Daribondi surrenders his treasured copy of Libro Secretorum Manifesta to an unknown bookshop in the hope that he can break free of the urge to kill. A copy of The King in Yellow (the Red Book edition) shows up outside his door at Broadalbin the next morning, delivered by a man dressed in red. The phone calls continue.

10 APR 1922: Asa Daribondi informs Henry Lundine that he is working on the hotel he has made his home in lieu of payment.

1 SEP 1934: Jaycy Linz checks in at Hotel Broadalbin, meets Debra Carver, and vanishes below the hotel.

20 JUL 1945: Isabelle Sauer, a future murder victim of Asa Daribondi, is born in New York City.

3 APR 1948: Damien Lechance disappears and turns up drowned in the Harlem River. His name is later found in Asa Daribondi's list of victims.

30 AUG 1950: A fire breaks out in Asa Daribondi's office on Mott Street in New York. After it is extinguished, the body of Isabelle Sauer (age 5) is found, dead from drowning, next to a washtub filled with bloody water. A warrant is issued for Daribondi's arrest. It is soon discovered Daribondi owes nearly $200,000 to the bank, and that he has kept a log-book of "accounts" which implies he has killed perhaps 20 children since his arrival in New York in 1921.

A Darkness at the Corners

Book by Elizabeth Ortiz; University Publications, 1957.

28 MAY 1886: Asa Daribondi, architect linked to the King in Yellow, is born in Paris to Miriam Daribondi and an unknown father. He becomes an American citizen on 6 JUN 1887 when his family arrives in New York. They soon settle in Chicago.

22 OCT 1896: Fleeing attention from French police and security services over her performance in the chorus for the stage production of Le Roi en jaune, Adriene Daribondi joins her sister in Chicago. She cares for her 10-year-old nephew, Asa Daribondi. During the next two years, Adriene fills her nephew's head with bizarre ideas, poems, and songs from Le Roi en jaune. It is some time before Miriam Daribondi realizes her sister is quite mad.

1905–1921: Asa Daribondi becomes a local celebrity. He builds ten “Thought Houses” between 1905 and 1921 for Chicago luminaries. These strange buildings are marked by optical illusions and strange shapes, and are considered avant-garde. The press calls the youth “the Picasso of architecture.”

2 DEC 1911: Construction is completed on the Bellefleur House in the Oak Park neighborhood of Chicago: a “Thought Building” designed by Asa Daribondi for the wealthy Fitzroy family.

10 MAY 1921: New York millionaire Henry Lundine hires Asa Daribondi to build what will become the Macallistar Building in New York City.

28 MAY 1886: Architect Asa Daribondi is born in Paris to Miriam Daribondi and an unknown father. He becomes an American citizen on 6 JUN 1887 when his family arrives in New York. They soon settle in Chicago.

26 APR 1898: Adriene Daribondi is put out on the streets of Chicago after Miriam Daribondi discovers she has been filling Asa's head with ideas that he is secret royalty from a fictional country, fleeing assassins in Europe.

1905–1921: Asa Daribondi becomes a local celebrity. He builds ten “Thought Houses” between 1905 and 1921 for Chicago luminaries. The press calls the youth “the Picasso of architecture.”

2 DEC 1911: Construction is completed on the Bellefleur House in the Oak Park neighborhood of Chicago: a “Thought Building” designed by Asa Daribondi for the wealthy Fitzroy family.

6 MAY 1921: Asa Daribondi suddenly leaves Chicago for New York and takes up residence at an unnamed mid-town hotel, answering, according to his mother, “an invitation.”

10 MAY 1921: New York millionaire Henry Lundine hires Asa Daribondi to build what will become the Macallistar Building in New York City.

Government Records and Police Reports

Municipal Library, New York Department of Records and Information Services, New York, New York, USA. The library still possesses Asa Daribondi's "log-book" or journal. The Agents can obtain it as the equivalent of its own piece of research. See ASA DARABONDI'S JOURNAL on page 13.

23 MAY 1921: A caller named "Bale," who says that he "serves the king," informs Asa Daribondi of the first child Daribondi is to kill: Peter Devoras, age 5, a rival for his throne. Daribondi finds the child at the designated location and time and drowns him. The body is found four days later but police fail to locate the killer.

3 APR 1948: Damien Lechance disappears turns up drowned in the Harlem River. His name is later found in Asa Daribondi's list of victims.

30 AUG 1950: A fire breaks out in Asa Daribondi's office on Mott Street in New York. After it is extinguished, the body of Isabelle Sauer (age 5) is found, dead from drowning, next to a washtub filled with bloody water. A warrant is issued for Daribondi's arrest. It is soon discovered Daribondi owes nearly $200,000 to the bank, and that he has kept a log-book of "accounts" which implies he has killed perhaps 20 children since his arrival in New York in 1921. Police keep the log-book as evidence.

2 SEP 1960: At the behest of his 91-year-old mother, Miriam Daribondi, Asa Daribondi is declared legally dead by the state of New York.

The Personal Journals of Ian F. Decraig (1892-1905)

In the archived records of the Illinois Department of Corrections, Springfield, Illinois, USA.

23 AUG 1901: Decraig meets prostitute Adriene Daribondi, who found his ad in the paper. She reveals she was in the chorus of Le Roi en jaune. Decraig takes her in. Despite the objections of his wife and scandal-sheet rumors, he lavishes her with money and attention. Adriene Daribondi claims her nephew is touched by "the King." Private detectives hired by Decraig secretly follow 15-year-old Asa Daribondi.

6 MAY 1902: Adriene Daribondi identifies the name of Asa's unknown father as Castaigne, an heir to "the King." Two men attack Asa Daribondi on the "L" train but are shot and killed by plain-clothed detectives in the employ of Ian F. Decraig. The dead men, too, are private investigators, but their employer is never found.

Ian F. Decraig

1 JUN 1903: Through an intermediary lawyer, Decraig sponsors Asa Daribondi's education, funding his attendance to the Art Institute of Chicago for Architecture.

1905-1921: Much of the early promotion of Asa Daribondi is secretly paid for by Ian F. Decraig.

12 APR 1905: After his aunt reveals her presence in Decraig's life, Asa Daribondi becomes a member of the Brotherhood of Doors under Decraig, who feels the youth is touched by the power of the King in Yellow. Daribondi, who has always felt exceptional and strange, eagerly embraces the religion to whom he is the messiah.

2 SEP 1905: Adriene Daribondi is kicked out of her apartment and returns to the streets. Asa Daribondi is given an envelope with $500, a copy of Libro Secretorum Manifesta, and a note from Decraig through his lawyer: "YOU ARE ANOINTED. THE KING AWAITS US ALL. WE SHALL BE REUNITED."

Ian F. Decraig's pivotal role in the looping whorls of Carcosan causality can be pieced together from countless sources.

Gangsters, Goons and Joliet: A History

Book by Steven Raab; Hartford Press, 1949.

30 AUG 1925: Ian F. Decraig disappears from Joliet Prison. It is discovered that he had been bribing guards for decades. He created dozens of painted canvas backdrops, rolling set pieces, and pieces of prop furniture in that time. One item, a huge, old-looking set door, was brought in to the prison at great expense in August 1925. Decraig disappears from a locked room during one of his days working on this "set" and is never seen again.

Strange Religions and False Gods in America

Book by Brewster Ellis; Stranger Press, 1976.

1 MAY 1897: Ian F. Decraig founds a Chicago religious order called "The Brotherhood of Doors." The final performance of Le Roi en jaune was the most revelatory experience of Decraig's life, but he never saw the end. The three members of the Brotherhood of Doors, all well-to-do witnesses to the play in 1895, are obsessed with piecing together a complete script.

1 MAY 1899: Ian F. Decraig places an ad in newspapers around the world. It runs for 10 years and reads: "WANTED. Witnesses of the FULL performance of play, Le Roi en jaune, Paris, Aug. 1895. Reward Offered. Decraig Corp. Ltd. Kemper and Whitehorse St., Chicago."

Deuxième Bureau

The Deuxième Bureau was an early branch of French military intelligence, dissolved by the Nazi-controlled Vichy regime in the 1940s. Its most recent descendent is la Direction générale de la sécurité extérieure, DGSE.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

20 JUL 1945: U.S. Army intelligence finds many Deuxième Bureau files at the Château des Portes. Because they include files relating to the Nazi occult program the Karotechia, they are remanded to Delta Green. They remain in storage in Washington for seven years.

22 FEB 1951: Emmet Moseby, a Delta Green agent, is tasked with poring through paperwork recovered in World War II. He locates a collection of troubling Deuxième Bureau files. Included in the files are the typed pages of the play Le Roi en jaune in French. Moseby types an English translation of the play and puts it in the file.

6 AUG 1895: Rehearsals begin for the first Paris stage production of Le Roi en jaune. Agents of Deuxième Bureau, pre-World War II French military intelligence, stake out the theater in the hope of apprehending Auteur X. He does not appear.

Found in the Deuxième Bureau File (1895–1951)

The Agents may find the file in the Missing Room. See page 246 of Impossible Landscapes.

6 MAY 1895: The first documented identification of unnatural events associated with the play Le Roi en jaune ("The King in Yellow") occur in Paris.

MAY–JULY 1895: Two members of the French government fall under the influence of the play Le Roi en jaune.

12 JUL 1895: After the death of President Jean Casimir-Perier's personal secretary Marie-Ange Reverdin, French agents of the Deuxième Bureau investigate Le Roi en jaune and burn copies. They believe the book was written by a foreigner, someone they call "Auteur X" or "X".

18 JUL 1895: Plans for a live performance of Le Roi en jaune are announced by les Coquelicots ("the Poppies") a Parisian acting troupe. Adriene Daribondi, aunt of Asa Daribondi, is in the chorus.

3 AUG 1895: A poster for Le Roi en jaune, depicting a woman holding a mask with a snake crawling through its eyes, becomes a common sight on the streets of Paris.

6 AUG 1895: Rehearsals begin for Le Roi en jaune. Deuxième Bureau agents stake out the theater in the hope of apprehending Auteur X. He does not appear.

23 AUG 1895: Le Roi en jaune opens to sold-out crowds. It is the talk of Paris. The small venue means it is nearly impossible to secure a ticket. The Deuxième Bureau permits the show to continue in the hopes of capturing Auteur X.

23–30 AUG 1895: Viewers of the play Le Roi en jaune report audience members fainting and having to be escorted out. Interest in the show builds. Tickets sell for outrageous prices.

30 AUG 1895: The last sold-out show of Le Roi en jaune by les Coquelicots is broken up by the Paris police under direction from the Deuxième Bureau. Cast members are arrested. Moments before the raid, the show is disrupted by strangely dressed, English-speaking intruders who draw firearms on stage before fleeing, pursued by "men from China" and masked riflemen in black.

Masks in Mythology

The legend of the Hobomack or Chepi is only one story of the unnatural power of masks.

Legends of the Great Lakes

David J. Cabrera; University of Michigan Press, 1970. The Mohegan Indians tell the tale of a Hobomack, an evil creature which can replace a medicine man, tearing off his face and putting it on as a mask to assume his appearance. When the Hobomack arrives, it is to announce the end of the tribe in a great story and to bring about chaos, death, and destruction.

2 NOV 1986: Devon Greenbrier's Mental Illness in the Work Place and Beyond is reportedly printed by Grolier International. It references Seere, Inc. Still, the physical book does not appear to exist.

Operation MERCY

Operation MERCY preceded the Agents' assignment to Operation INDIA MOON. Its impact resonates throughout Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

24 JUN 2015: Delta Green notices strange behavior by a veteran agent, Dr. Elias Barbas. It organizes Operation MERCY to investigate, led by Michael Witwer (Delta Green Agent Vega).

28 JUN 2015: Agent Vega and the Operation MERCY team arrive in Boston and check into the Boxer Hotel. They tail Dr. Barbas to the Gateway Bridges Restaurant, break into his car, and seize the Deuxième Bureau file.

30 JUN 2015: The Deuxième Bureau file infects the Boxer Hotel room. The Operation MERCY team notices that the file "bleeds" text into other texts.

5 JUL 2015: The Operation MERCY team photographs a person they identify as former Delta Green Agent Emmet Moseby leaving Dr. Barbas's house in Medford. Moseby appears not to have aged in the 64 years he has been missing.

6 JUL 2015: The Operation MERCY team retreats to the Boxer Hotel to rest before breaking into Dr. Barbas's house.

8 JUL 2015: The Operation MERCY team vanishes.

Recollections of the Operation MERCY Team

The Agents could find Michael Witwer, the last survivor of Operation MERCY, as a patient on the Night Floors of the Dorchester House. See DORCHESTER HOUSE PATIENTS BY NIGHT on page 218 of Impossible Landscapes. The Handler should convey these items in conversation rather than as handouts.

6 JUL 2015: Agent Venus (FBI Special Agent Geneva Brown) sleeps in the Boxer Hotel and a dangerous “dream window” appears. The team struggles to deal with it. The team retreats to a second location while deciding how to deal with the room.

7 JUL 2015: Delta Green Agents Geneva Brown, Michael Witwer, and Roger Thelemis return to the Boxer Hotel. Witwer accidentally activates the dream window in the room when he sleeps. Geneva Brown enters the dream window but something goes wrong. The dream window fogs over as she enters it. Moments later, Brown exits the wall screaming, “NO MASK, NO MASK!” and attacks the team. There is a gun battle and Thelemis shoots Brown in the head, killing her. The team cleans the room, reopen the dream window, and send Brown’s body through to hide it. No one comes to investigate the noise. The team flees the room.

8 JUL 2015: Agent Michael Witwer and the rest of Delta Green’s Operation MERCY team are captured by compromised nurses and personnel at the Dorchester House, thinking they were there to capture Dr. Barbas. They are sedated and held at the facility in secret.

Emmet Moseby

The Agents might meet Moseby in the Bookshop as described on page 124 of Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler’s discretion.

12 APR 1905: Emmet Moseby is born in Wichita, Kansas.

22 FEB 1951: Emmet Moseby, a Delta Green agent, is tasked with poring through paperwork recovered in World War II. He locates the Deuxième Bureau files. Included in the files are the typed pages of the play Le Roi en jaune in French. Moseby types an English translation of the play and puts it in the file.

23 OCT 1951: Emmet Moseby boards a ship for a spring vacation in Europe. “The continent first, and then to court,” he is quoted as saying. Moseby is not seen again.

30 AUG 1952: Delta Green leaders come to the conclusion that Emmet Moseby secretly translated The King in Yellow into English from the French play Le Roi en jaune and worked with an unknown publisher to print it.

Government Records

Office of Vital Statistics, Kansas Department of Health and Environment, Topeka, Kansas, USA.

12 APR 1905: Emmet Moseby is born in Wichita, Kansas.

NBC Philco Television Playhouse

The Agents might find scripts for The Yellow Phantom as described on page 323 of Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

9 MAY 1952: The ritualistic drowning of three children catches the attention of Delta Green. Each is associated with the NBC Philco Television Playhouse in New York. Operation LUNA uncovers a source of unnatural influence in an attempt to convert a scene from The King in Yellow to a short TV program called The Yellow Phantom. Delta Green discovers the potency of the Yellow Sign for the first time. Agents seize copies of the Red Book. The program's director, Gary Topchick, is framed for the murders and incarcerated, but Delta Green never finds the actual killer. Topchick is found insane and committed to Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

Louis Post

4 APR 1968: Louis Post is born in Modesto, California.

The Red Book

The Red Book is described on pages 26 and 348 of Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

6 JUN 1951: As far as is known, The King in Yellow appears in English in America for the first time in the so-called Red Book, marked with a strange symbol: the Yellow Sign. It is recovered at the scene of a murder in and placed on a "watch list" of occult texts.

23 JUN 1952: Leland A. Fuller writes an analysis of The King in Yellow for Delta Green. Fuller recognizes it as an English translation of a document he read in Delta Green war records in 1951. He turns in his report and a copy of the Red Book and commits himself to Bellevue Hospital. He remains there until his death in 1995.

30 AUG 1952: Delta Green leaders conclude that Emmet Moseby secretly translated The King in Yellow into English as the Red Book from Le Roi en jaune and printed it with an unknown publisher.

30 AUG 1955: Her Grey Song, an off-Broadway play based on the Red Book, opens and closes on the same night in New York. Delta Green launches Operation BRISTOL as theatergoers and actors go insane or die under bizarre circumstances.

30 AUG-12 SEP 1955: Delta Green hunts Her Grey Song actors and audience and copies of the Red Book to destroy them.

Luisa Reggie

The Agents might meet Luisa Reggie in Hotel Broadalbin, as described on page 293 of Impossible Landscapes.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

23 AUG 2006: A copy of Libro Secretorum Manifesta is sold at auction from Cook County Jail to Luisa Reggie, a Chicago occult author, along with all remaining personal effects of Ian F. Decraig.

17 OCT 2006: Luisa Reggie's boyfriend, Victor Correll, attended an all-boys' religious school and is fluent in Latin. He begins reading The King in Yellow.

23 AUG 2006: A copy of Libro Secretorum Manifesta is sold at auction from Cook County Jail to Luisa Reggie, a Chicago occult author, along with all remaining personal effects of Ian F. Decraig. Reggie is writing a book on the Chicago Thoth-Hermes temple. She glances over the play but can't read it because it is in Latin.

6 MAY 2007: The first death related to Victor Correll's film A Song Before Travel occurs 44 minutes after its screening ends. A Delta Green Outlaw team activates operation ACTIVE STATIC in an attempt to stop an outbreak of the King in Yellow in Chicago. Luisa Reggie is found in her home on the lake, having apparently hanged herself at least a month before.

Le Roi en Jaune (the Play)

See page 25 and 348 of Impossible Landscapes for descriptions of Le Roi en jaune and the uncounted faults in humanity's comprehension of reality for its influence.

Accursed Books

Book by Teilhard Cheven; Sigil LLC, 2001.

OCTOBER 1894: The play Le Roi en jaune ("The King in Yellow") turns up in bookshops across Paris in a slim black hardcover.

6 MAY 1895: The first documented identification of unnatural events associated with the play Le Roi en jaune ("The King in Yellow") occur in Paris.

MAY-JULY 1895: More than two hundred people are murdered, commit suicide, or vanish during the first outbreak of Le Roi en jaune.

3 AUG 1895: A poster for Le Roi en jaune, depicting a woman holding a mask with a snake crawling through its eyes, becomes a common sight on the streets of Paris.

Government Records

Archives, Direction générale de la sécurité extérieure, Paris, France.

6 AUG 1895: Rehearsals begin for Le Roi en jaune. Deuxième Bureau agents stake out the theater in the hope of apprehending its suspected author, "Auteur X." He does not appear.

Newspaper and Magazine Articles

Paris, France.

23–30 AUG 1895: Viewers of the play Le Roi en jaune report audience members fainting and having to be escorted out. Interest in the show builds. Tickets sell for outrageous prices.

30 AUG 1895: The last sold-out show of Le Roi en jaune by les Coquelicots is broken up by the Paris police under direction from the Deuxième Bureau. Cast members are arrested. Moments before the raid, the show is disrupted by strangely dressed, English-speaking intruders who draw firearms on stage before fleeing, pursued by “men from China” and masked riflemen in black.

Esther Samigina and Family

Esther Samigina is described on pages 178 and 242 of Impossible Landscapes and her family and home are described on pages 187–188.

Government Records

City Clerk’s Office, Archives and Records Management, Boston, Massachusetts, USA.

1 JUN 1995: Esther and Philip Samigina are married in Boston.

1 JAN 1999: Henry Samigina, son of Esther Samigina, head nurse of the Dorchester House psychiatric facility, is born in Boston.

Recollections of the Residents of the Night Floors of the Dorchester House

The Agents may meet Night Floors residents after they are trapped in the Dorchester House. See page 215 of Impossible Landscapes. These items are better conveyed through conversation than through handouts.

7 MAY 2015: Nurse Esther Samigina is shown the Yellow Sign at the Dorchester House and is compromised by the forces of the King in Yellow.

10 MAY 2015: Esther Samigina shows her son the Yellow Sign. At Dorchester House, she is instructed to make “costumes.” She purchases a Sears sewing machine and supplies.

11 MAY 2015: Henry Samigina murders his father Philip in the Samigina home. He places his father’s body in the upstairs bathtub. Esther Samigina starts sending costumes down the newly appeared “chute” in her home to the Hotel Broadalbin.

12 MAY 2015: Henry Samigina begins to construct a copy of The King in Yellow, called The Phantom Sayeth, by listening to the corpse of his father and then cutting and pasting sections of the script from preexisting items.

17 MAY 2015: Esther Samigina receives instruction at Dorchester House to create Encounter Group, where strangers can meet to share concerns and stories. She makes masks and costumes, and finds to her astonishment that Encounter Group already exists. She attends in a mask and finds all others are in masks. She places photocopied announcements around her neighborhood.

3 JUN 2015: Henry Samigina constructs a cardboard model of Carcosa.

22 JUN 2015: Henry Samigina completes his copy of The King in Yellow (titled The Phantom Sayeth), dictated by his father's corpse, and vanishes into the mirror in the Samigina home.

Delta Green Records

Whether and under what circumstances Delta Green makes such restricted information available to the Agents are entirely at the Handler's discretion.

1 SEP 1955: Delta Green leadership creates the STATIC protocol to deal with the unique threat of The King in Yellow. A STATIC shadow team (Eric K. Carter, Virgil Griffith, Ronald Burbach, and Frederick Colwell) is dispatched to "clean" the infection and make certain the BRISTOL team is not compromised.

4 SEP 1955: During Operation BRISTOL, Delta Green Agent Albert Hale is compromised and kills two agents before being killed by the first STATIC shadow team. Fourteen witnesses, two actors, and the director remain unaccounted for.

7 SEP 1955: The Delta Green STATIC shadow team fails to check in.

9 SEP 1955: STATIC shadow team member Frederick Colwell is found barricaded in his home in White Plains, New York. He tells Delta Green that team member Virgil Griffith killed the others and that another person, a man in a mask, was in the room. He refuses to speak further about what he's seen because "it's contagious."

11 SEP 1955: The last member of the STATIC shadow team, Virgil Griffith is pursued across New York City by Delta Green agents. Wearing a face mask and wielding a shotgun, he somehow vanishes near Madison Square Park in broad daylight. He is not seen again.

Strange Tarot Readings

Some of the earliest recorded hints of the King in Yellow came not in theater but in card readings.

100 Years of Death: The 17th Century in England

Book by Mark Robbins; Brecourt Press, 1970.

1665: A beggar clothed in yellow rags in London wanders through areas completely abandoned to the bubonic plague and reads tarot cards for anyone obviously suffering from the plague. The cards appear to tell, with great accuracy, who will live and who will die.

Mysteries of the 17th Century

Book by James L. Ivers; Hidden Doors Press, 1973.

1606: A woman called Lady Trionfi spends two weeks on Towne Street in Cardiff, Wales, reading cards for a penny. For the past two days, she makes dire warnings to all clients that calamity and flood are coming. The cards she uses are finely made, French, and gilded. She calls it “le tarot de l’empereur jaune” (“the yellow emperor tarot”) and claims she received them on an island called Carcos from a king.

30 JAN 1607: A huge flood in the Bristol Channel kills 2,000 people and drowns Cardiff.

1665: Bubonic plague strikes England, killing hundreds of thousands.

28 AUG 1666: Thomas Farriner, a baker, pays a penny to have his cards read by a strange woman on Pudding Lane, London. He later claims he was swindled.

2 SEP 1666: The Great Fire of London destroys the homes of 70,000 out of 80,000 residents of the city. It begins at Thomas Farriner’s bakery, at Pudding Lane. Farriner somehow survives.

Royalty and the Secret Arts

Book by Stuart Bloomberg; Milsat, 1964.

1615: Ahmed I, Ottoman Sultan, offers 5,000 golden ducats for “le tarot de l’empereur jaune” (“the yellow emperor tarot”), worth approximately $750,000 in 2020.

1620: Despite being declared a criminal by the unpopular King James I, Lady Trionfi reappears in London to make a reading from her cards. She announces to a gathered crowd of more than a thousand that “seventy years of drought, disease, and famine follow on the year.” James I dies in 1625. Droughts and famines ravage England until 1690.

The Life and Times of Dr. Dee

Book by Bethany Bedwell; Mandrake, 1984.

1608: Near the end of his life, John Dee, occult philosopher and one-time advisor to Queen Elizabeth I, meets a woman called “S” from “Caracosa,” likely the same woman who read the cards in Cardiff. He pays what little money he can for a reading of her cards. Dee writes a letter detailing this reading to Christ’s College, Manchester, where he is warden. He mentions the special nature of the unnamed woman’s “le tarot de l’empereur jaune” (“the yellow emperor tarot”), and warns of a “century of calamity, drought, famine, pestilence and fire for England.”
