PROLOGUE – OLD FRIENDS

It was barely an hour after sunrise, but Miitho couldn't resist sampling just one more pint. Zephyrym's Cloud, every adventurer's favorite watering hole, had on tap some of the finest ales and beers in the land. Zephyrym's Finest was the draft that Miitho was enjoying, and this sample was on the house. The Dwarf Lord was buying four wagons full of spirits from Zephyrym, so Zephyrym didn't begrudge a few pints.

"Three new Mithril veins, Zephyrym, discovered just last month. THREE!" Miitho exclaimed, as the silver haired old inn keep, who'd already heard this story twice the night before, nodded and smiled politely.

"Three new veins of Moradin's Glory. That's cause for celebration, and greater cause for reward. The miners of Greystone are the hardest workers a Lord could ask for, and I'll be dammed if I don't let them know it!" he exclaimed as he patted a keg.

The two old friends watched as the last barrels were loaded on to the wagons, and then Miitho prepared to depart.

"Give me a ride to the edge of the north fields, would you? I've some business to attend to." Asked the inn keep, already aware of the answer.

"Of course! Hop aboard."

The wagon master got the caravan rolling, and Miitho quietly marveled at the early morning bustle in New Anthony. He could remember a time not long ago when there was nothing but a trading post and a small inn at the intersection of Dragon's Flight Highway and the Silver Road. But now, thanks to the savvy of Zephyrym Anthony and his brewmaster wife Carissa, a burgeoning trade town had bloomed.

"Adventurers," remarked Zephyrym as they rode past a tired but proud group making its way towards The Cloud. "They're the key. Keep them coming back, with the riches they find, and businesses will blossom."

"And just how do you keep them coming back?" asked Miitho.

"Give them more adventure! Carissa and I keep our ears open at the Inn, and stay well aware of what's happening in the land. We share what we learn with the right groups... letting them know about ogres stirring in the west, or hobgoblins gathering to the north, or an ancient tomb of undead discovered to the east. When we share such information with the right groups of foolhardy folk they run off, risking life and limb, and handle the problem, helping to keep the civilized folk safe. And if... no, when... they return, bruised, battered, and bloodied, they thank you for it and ask for more!"

"Aye, I remember those days," the dwarf remarked, a reminiscent twinkle in his eyes as he patted his war hammer fondly, "But this dwarf's too old for that nonsense anymore."

"Too fat and drunk too, I'd imagine," Zephyrym joked. "Here we go, this should be far enough."

Now at the Northern edge of the oat fields and well away from any crowds Miitho signaled the caravan to stop.

"Do be careful Miitho," Zephyrym stated rather ominously as he climbed out of the wagon. "There's trouble brewing. I don't quite know what yet, but several different groups have brought disturbing news. I'm off to investigate a bit of it personally."

"If trouble's afoot should you be leaving your inn?" Asked Miitho.

"Oh, I'm quite sure my customers can fend off any minor trouble that might arise, and if its more trouble than a room full of eager adventurers can deal with well... Carissa can certainly handle herself."

"Aye! That she can!" said the dwarf, as he watched his old friend enlarge to the size of a house and take his true form, his twenty-foot long tail almost nudging a wagon over as his massive silver wings spread.

"Take care my friend," said the Old Silver Dragon, a pleasing smile on his noble face, "and may your new found Mithril gleam like Bahamut!"

The dragon took flight.

If a creature's saving throw is successful or the effect ends for it, the creature is immune to the dragon's Frightful Presence for the next 24 hours.

Breath Weapon (Recharge 4-6) The dragon uses one of the following breath weapons.

Acid Breath. The dragon exhales acid in a 120 foot line that is 5 feet wide. Each creature in that line must make a DC 24 Dexterity saving throw, taking 121 (22d10) acid damage on a failed saving throw, or half as much damage on a successful one.

Slowing Breath. The dragon exhales gas in a 120 foot cone. Each creature in that area must succeed on a DC 24 Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, the creature can't use reactions, its speed is halved, and it can't make more than one attack on its turn. In addition, the creature can use either an action or a bonus action on its turn, but not both. These effects last for 1 minute. The creature can repeat the saving throw on each of its turns, ending the effect with a successful save.

Change Shape. The dragon magically polymorphs into a humanoid or beast that has a challenge rating no higher than its own, or back into its true form. It reverts to its true form if it dies. Any equipment it is wearing or carrying is absorbed or borne by the new form (the dragon's choice).

In a new form, the dragon retains its alignment, hit points, Hit Dice, ability to speak, proficiencies, Legendary Resistance, lair actions, and Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma scores, as well as this action. Its statistics and capabilities are otherwise replaced by those of the new form.

LEGENDARY ACTIONS

The dragon can take 3 legendary actions, choosing from the options below. Only one legendary action option can be used at a time and only at the end of another creature's turn. The dragon regains spent legendary actions at the start of its turn.

EPILOGUE – DAEMONS AND DRAGONS

"Well done, my clansmen, well done!" exclaimed the mighty Dwarf Lord Miitho from the head of Clans Meet Table in the great hall of Greystone. "Just this month our clans have pulled 2 tons of Mithril ore from the mines. That's 10 tons thus far this year. At this pace we'll have 25 tons mined by years end! Raise your mugs in celebration To Moradin and Mithril!"

"To Moradin and Mithril!" came a dozen replies.

The toast over, Miitho sat down and pulled a leg off the roasted bird in front of him. A bit of worry crossed his face, and he paused in thought, mouth open, drumstick in hand.

"What's eatin at yer mind, Miitho?" inquired Welby Stonecutter, his right hand at The Table for two decades.

"Something an old friend said. A mention of trouble coming."

"Bah! There's always trouble about, why worry? Let it come, and by Moradin we'll charge!" came the intoxicated bravado.

But this old friend's concerns were rarely trivial, and Miitho couldn't help but worry.

"This have anything to do with those adventurers you welcomed," asked Welby, "and their talk of some Witchking and his sword? They were deep under the city earlier today, opening vaults that shouldn't be opened."

"Aye. The same old friend asked that I indulge them. He's got the wisdom of ages, this friend, but even he doesn't know what it all means. He only knows that trouble is coming."

And at precisely that moment came the screams. Blood curdling screams of terror outside the Hall. Miitho grabbed Snurre Slayer, his mighty war hammer, and moved to the door but pulled up short. A horrid, roach like, four armed bipedal fiend materialized from nothingness in front of Miitho, and a poisonous breath emanated forth from the beast. Three of the Hall's guards fell gasping in agony from the poison, while Miitho held his breath and buried his maul in the beasts chitinous head.

"Miitho!" cried out Welby from behind, and Miitho turned to see two more mezzoloths in The Hall. Poisonous air filled the Great Hall and most of the Clan Lords were already dead. A fiend set upon Welby with its trident, whilst Malachai of clan Mithril Hammer held his own against the other. Miitho charged and unleashed a fury on both fiends unlike any Welby or Malachai had ever imagined. The trio turned to the Great Hall's door, but were unprepared for the horror beyond.

Emerging from Greystone Keep into the cavernous Grand

Gallery of the Dwarves they saw a city reeling. Hundreds of mezzoloths poisoned the air, while winged nycoloths snatched those dwarves hearty enough to survive the poison, flew them up near the ceiling of the vast cavern, and dropped the hapless victims to their deaths. For a moment the trio stood dumbfounded, aghast at the carnage this sudden surprise assault had wrought. But that moment passed quickly.

A new form appeared from the poisonous mists. A tall alien being with glowing eyes upon a featureless oval face gazed upon the three dwarves, and the three dwarves were engulfed in a fire storm. Miitho, ignoring the searing pain, hurled Snurre Slayer at this new evil as his friends fell. The maul hit the ultroloth in the chest with a as the daemon gestured to ready another spell. Miitho charged as his hammer returned but, as suddenly as it had appeared, the fiend disappeared. Light from Greystone's surface doors streamed in, illuminating the city, and a glorious sight was beheld.

Rushing through the air from the surface were squadrons of Golden Elf Gryphon Riders, their charge led by a flight of five great dragons. A brass, bronze, copper, gold and, at the vanguard, Zephyrym the silver. With the benefit of surprise gone, the yugoloth invaders teleported away as quickly as they'd arrived.

Zephyrym was relieved to find his old friend still alive. Miitho, overwhelmed with fury and grief, knew that in those brief few moments thousands of dwarves had been ruthlessly slaughtered.

"I'm so sorry, my friend," said the dragon "that we did not arrive sooner. A vision from Bahamut came to Aurum the Gold only yesterday, and The Council of Five flew from Ux Verthicha as fast as we could, but we were not swift enough."

"Why? Why did this happen? Why were we assaulted so?" Miitho asked the dragon in anguish.

"A hobgoblin army has marched on the north. Orcs stirred to the east. The black dragons of the Fens rose up against the Troll Lord in the south. And now this. We do not know why, but a greater evil is uniting these disparate beasts. I fear the days ahead will only grow darker. We must strive to hold the light."
