CRO-MAGNON (Gizonen)

A sturdy and enduring people, these hardy primitives have thrived in the savage wilderness for countless centuries, facing some of the most horrifying of obstacles, such as extreme weather, famine, brutal tribal warfare, and the deadly mega-fauna that pose a serious threat to them on a daily basis...Kill or be Killed is the only way of life these people seem to know.

--Friar Athelstan Corrganmere, Scribe & Creature Archivist

PEOPLE OF DESTINY

Cro-Magnon (or the Gizonen as they are known) stand anywhere from 5 ½ to 6 feet in height, and weigh about 150 to 200 pounds. They are a strong robust people, and have well-muscled frames and hardy constitutions. Of all the Primal races, they resemble mankind the most, though they tend to be hairier, and with a more pronounced brow ridge and heavy jawline. Depending on the origin of their tribe's region, Cro-Magnon hair and eye color varies from fair to dark. These savages tend to tattoo and scar themselves to denote status amongst their tribe. Cro-Magnon mature at about 16 years of age and live less than a century.

CHILDREN OF GAIA

The Cro-Magnon have a deep and spiritual connection to the earth, and worship a deity they call Gaia, who encompasses all aspects of the natural world. In turn, Gaia protects her children by granting them strength and power through her divine servants, the animal-spirits of the primordial world, or Totems, as they are also known.

To think these proud people nothing but savages would be a bad mistake, quite contrary, as mentioned before, they are the closest kin to mankind then any of the other Primals. The Gizonen have an ancient and rich history which they have passed down the generations through tribal music, dance, song, stories, and vibrant works of art, such as elaborate cave paintings as well as the creation of talismans and idols skillfully-crafted from stone and antler bone, particularly those depicting the creator, Gaia herself.

TOTEM WARRIORS

The great Cro-Magnon tribes center around their tribal Totems. These spirit-guardians watch over and protect Gaia's chosen people, giving them guidance and strength to overcome threats and adversity, be it from the fury of the elements, or an enemy's spear. They are often at odds with locale tribes regarding hunting grounds, particularly those of the Jende (Neanderthal), whom they trade or wage war against from time to time.

CRO-MAGNON FEATS

Feats are an optional rule in chapter 6, "Customization Options", of the Player's Handbook. Included here are 3 new feats available to Cro-Magnon characters.

Brotherhood of Stone

Prerequisites: Cro-magnon

The skills you possess in wielding your tribal weapons is uncanny. You gain the following benefits:

- You gain a +1 attack and damage bonus when wielding primitive-crafted weapons personally-constructed by yourself or another member of your tribe. This bonus does not stack with magical enhancements of similar effect.

Brutal Resolve

Prerequisites: Strength 13 or higher; cro-magnon

You have learned how to harness, with deadly resolve, the weapons of your people. You gain the following benefits:

- You deal an extra die of damage when wielding a primitive-crafted weapon.

Strong like the Mountains

Prerequisites: Constitution 13 or higher; cro-magnon

Against venom and pestilence, your body's ability to withstand is unmatched. You gain the following benefits:

- Increase your Constitution score by 1, to a maximum of 20.
- You gain advantage on disease and poison saving throws.

NEW CRO-MAGNON EQUIPMENT

Cro-Magnon have access to the following items. Unless stated in their description, other races may have access to these items as well.

ARMOR

Chitin Breastplate: A serviceable breastplate crafted from chitin plates.

Chitin Coat: This armor is crafted from hundreds of tiny chitin plates sewn onto a long tunic of soft leather. The suit comes complete with chitin vambraces and greaves.

Chitin Shirt: An armor consisting of hundreds of tiny chitin plates sewn onto a soft leather shirt.

Hardened Leather: A suit of armor composed of leather hardened with special resins and oils. Highly sought after by warriors for the protection and agility it affords the wearer in battle. The suit consists of a hardened leather breastplate, vambraces, and simple greaves. An improvement on leather armor.

Soft Leather: A type of clothing that also acts as armor, it is composed of soft cured leather. The suit consists of a tunic and belt, trousers, and sturdy moccasins. This outfit is worn by most tribesmen in everyday life.

Shield, Small Chitin: A small triangular shield crafted from a beast's chitin plate.

Shield, Small Hide: A small oval shield crafted from treated beast hide over a sturdy hardwood frame.

Shield, Small Wooden: A small round shield crafted from hickory wood.

Shield, Tortoise Shell Buckler: A primitive buckler crafted from a hollowed-out tortoise shell. This shield allows you to attack with a weapon held (Light only) that the buckler is strapped onto and still receive benefit of its granted armor class bonus.

*Prices here are provided using the standard D&D coin system, but can be modified into any other type of monetary system to better suit your campaign.

Primitive Armor Materials (Optional Rules)

If a creature wearing armor crafted from bone, chitin, hide, fur, leather, or wood (including plant fiber-based varieties) suffers a critical hit in combat, their armor class is reduced permanently by 1 point. Armor which AC is reduced to 10 is destroyed and must be replaced. Repeated wear and use of these types of organic-based armor degrade the item, which eventually falls apart and becomes useless. A typical suit of armor crafted from primitive material needs to be replaced every 12 months.

Critical Hits & Primitive-craft Shields

As with other forms of armor crafted from primitive materials, a primitive-crafted shield's AC bonus is reduced by 1 point each time a creature using it to defend themselves in battle takes a critical hit, however, a character wielding a shield can choose whether the critical AC penalty is dealt to their shield or their worn armor. Shields which AC is reduced to +0 are destroyed and must be replaced.

WEAPONS

Artengak, Bone: A primitive harpoon-like weapon used in the hunting of seal and walrus by arctic tribesmen. The weapon consists of a 5-foot long hardwood shaft with a sharp, serrated bone head. A long leather cord attaches to the base end of the shaft. The user loops and secures the cord around the wrist, which helps prevent an impaled target from escaping. Once tethered, both the wielder and target must make a contested Strength check. If the wielder wins, the target is pulled 5-feet closer, if the target wins, it does not move but remains tethered. As an action, a tethered target may cut the cord with a slashing weapon (the cord has 1 hit point), alternatively, tethered targets may rip the artengak from their body, causing an additional 1d8 slashing damage due to the serrated edge.

Battleaxe, Bone: A battleaxe crafted from the sharpened shoulder blade of a beast and a bone shaft, then lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the obsidian battleaxe.

Battleaxe, Obsidian: A battleaxe crafted from a chunk of sharpened obsidian and a wooden shaft, then lashed together with leather cord. Though deadly in combat, it is extremely-brittle and highly-prone to shattering.

Battleaxe, Stone: A battleaxe crafted from a sharpened slab of stone and a hardwood shaft, then lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the bone battleaxe.

Bolas, Stone: A 2-foot length of hemp or leather cord with weighted stone ends, used to injure and trip foes by hurling them at a target from a distance. A Large or smaller bipedal or quadruped creature hit with bolas must make a Strength (Athletics) check (DC 10) or be knocked Prone.

Greataxe, Bone: A greataxe crafted from a large, sharpened shoulder blade of a beast and a bone shaft, then lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the obsidian greataxe.

Greataxe, Obsidian: A greataxe crafted from a large chunk of sharpened obsidian and a wooden shaft, then lashed together with leather cord. Though deadly in combat, it is extremely-brittle and highly-prone to shattering.

Greataxe, Stone: A greataxe crafted from a large, sharpened slab of stone and a hardwood shaft, then lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the bone greataxe.

Greatclub, Spiked: An improvement on the standard greatclub. This weapon is embedded with shards of obsidian, which effectively changes the weapon's damage from bludgeoning to piercing.

Javelin, Bone: A light, specialized spear topped with a sharpened bone head. An improvement on the obsidian javelin.

Javelin, Obsidian: A light, specialized spear topped with a sharpened obsidian head. Though deadly in combat, it is extremely-brittle and highly-prone to shattering.

Javelin, Stone: A light, specialized spear topped with a sharpened stone head. An improvement on the bone javelin.

Mace, Bone: A mace crafted from the skull of a beast and a bone shaft, lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the wooden mace.

Mace, Stone: A mace crafted from a heavy stone head atop a hardwood shaft. The mace head is often decorated with fanciful designs or shapes, sometimes in the form of a beast's head. An improvement on the bone mace.

Mace, Wooden: A mace crafted from a solid piece of hardwood. The head portion of the weapon is often carved with a menacing face of some wild creature or monster.

Mere Club: A leaf-shaped club crafted entirely out of a single piece of polished stone with a leather grip of leather cord. Images of beasts and demons are often carved on it.

Sickle, Bone: A sickle carved from a piece of sharpened rib bone and a bone handle, lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the obsidian sickle.

Sickle, Obsidian: A sickle carved from a piece of obsidian and a sturdy wooden handle, lashed together with leather cord. Though deadly in combat, it is extremely-brittle and highly-prone to shattering.

Sickle, Stone: A sickle carved from a piece of stone and a sturdy hardwood handle, lashed together with leather cord. An improvement on the bone sickle.

War-claw: A hardened-leather gauntlet covered in spikes with three large bone blades protruding from it like a beast's claw.

War Pick, Bone: A war pick consisting of a thick bone shaft with a large femur lashed to its' end, sharpened to a deadly point.

Craft Material & Weapon Breakage (Optional Rule)

Weapons are bound to break after extensive use, particularly those made from bone, obsidian, stone, or wood. Whenever a character or creature rolls a 1 or 20 with a d20 for an attack roll, there is a chance their weapon will break. The chance that the weapon breaks is determined by the material used in its' construction.

Weapons, Simple Materials

Obsidian: Roll 1d6, weapon breaks on a roll of 1 through 5.
Wood: Roll 1d6, weapon breaks on a roll of 1 through 4.
Bone: Roll 1d6, weapon breaks on a roll of 1 through 3.
Stone: Roll 1d6, weapon breaks on a roll of 1 through 2.

Weapons, Metallic Ores*

Bronze: Roll 1d20, weapon breaks on a roll of 1 through 10.
Iron: Roll 1d120, weapon breaks on a roll of 1 through 5.
Adamantine: Roll 1d20, weapon breaks on a roll of 1.

*Weapons crafted from these materials are only subject to breakage if rolling a 1 on an attack roll.

ADVENTURING GEAR

Atlatl: A throwing lever used to propel javelins farther than they would normally travel. Using this tool changes the javelin's standard range to 60/240. The atlatl is typically carved from hardwood or deer antler.

Musical Instrument, Primitive: Stone-age musical instruments used by the Cro-Magnon in a variety of tribal rituals and ceremonies, such as births, weddings, and funerals.

Papoose: A specialized bag crafted from animal skins and lined with warm fur used for carrying infants on long treks. The papoose is secured onto a sturdy bone or wooden frame and worn like a backpack.

Smith Tools, Primitive: A set of simple bone, stone, and obsidian tools used to craft stone-age items, including (but not limited to) armor, clothing, weapons, etc. This set of tools is widely available to all the Primal races.

Smith Tools, Refined Primitive: A set of refined crafting implements of the Cro-Magnon people, made for the fashioning of primitive items, consisting of a variety of sophisticated obsidian and flint tools such as a stone adze*, retouched blades, end scrapers, the chisel-like tool known as a Burin (engraver), an array of bone needles, leather cordage, and an assortment fine bone tools for scrapping and smoothing worked leather and hide. You gain advantage on rolls involving the creation of stone-age items, including (but not limited to) armor, clothing, weapons, etc. while using this tool set.

*the adze acts as a stone handaxe.

Tattooing Kit, Primitive: A kit that includes all the needles, inks, and miscellaneous implements for tattooing.

Tent, Mammoth Skin: A simple tent made from the sturdy hide of a woolly mammoth. The tent houses up to 6 medium creatures comfortably. You gain advantage on Constitution saving throws against Extreme Cold wilderness environments.

Totem Fetish: A small fetish of your tribal totem crafted from bone, ivory, jade, obsidian, quartz, stone, or wood.

Watanka: A primitive (but effective) sled consisting of a sturdy hardwood frame with animal skins stretched across it. Primarily used to haul gear and trade goods over large distances, but can also be used to safely transport injured or incapacitated individuals. The Watanka can hold a maximum of 400 pounds before breaking. It is usually dragged behind a person using leather straps, or can be pulled by dogs or beasts of burden if the travel terrain allows it.
