

INANIMIS' GUIDE TO VAMPIRISM

Player Character Vampire Traits and ways to implement Vampirism to your Campaign any a time in your campaign, players might end up facing a Vampire. A Vampire is an elegant but deadly creature. It avoids the sun and thrives in the shadow. It drinks blood and curses others with Vampirism. Your players are not immune to Vampirism.

VAMPIRISM

Here's a guide that will help you implement Vampirism in your Campaign with Optional Rules to make it a focal point for a quest.

BECOMING A VAMPIRE

When facing a Vampire, players have to be careful to avoid its bite. If bitten, a player has to make a Constitution Saving Throw. The DC depends on the Vampire. Here's a simple table to help you figure out the DC of the Saving Throw.

Vampire's CR	DC
Less than 8	12
Between 8 and 12	15
Higher than 12	18
Legendary Creature*	22

*Legendary creature should be a main villain that you want your 15+ level players to face for an end-game battle.

If a players fails the Con Save, they are affected with Vampirism. If they succeed, they cannot be affected by Vampirism for the next 24 hours.

TRAITS OF A VAMPIRE

When you become a Vampire, no matter your race, many things change. You gain some benefits but you also get some disadvantages. Here are the benefits.

Ability Score Increase: Your Charisma score, Strength score and Dexterity score increase by 1.

Superior Darkvision: You gain 120 feet Darkvision. Being of Darkness: Your movement increases by 20 when it's night.

Blood Craving: You have Advantage on any checks you make to track down an injured creature.

Bat Shape: If the vampire isn't in sun light or running water, it can use its action to Polymorph into a Tiny bat. It can use a bonus action to change back to its original form. While in bat form, the vampire can't speak, its walking speed is 5 feet, and it has a flying speed of 30 feet. Its Statistics, other than its size and speed, are unchanged. Anything it is wearing transforms with it, but nothing it is carrying does. It reverts to its true form if it dies.

Vampire Blood: When infecting other humanoids, your Vampire Blood modifier increases. It starts from 0 and caps at 10. Vampire Blood affects many things such as your Vampirism Save DC which is 10 + your Vampire Blood modifier, your Bite and more. If a humanoid consumes even a single drop of your blood, they have to make a Save DC to resist Vampirism.

Bite: You can use your Bite attack to inflict Vampirism to any non-immune humanoid. Your Bite attack deals 2d6 + your Vampire Blood modifier, piercing damage.

Now, becoming a Vampire comes with a price. These are the Disadvantages you face.

Sunlight Sensitivity: When in direct contact with the light of the sun you suffer the following disadvantages: any Perception, Investigation, Survival checks you make is made with Disadvantage. Any Attacks you make are made with Disadvantage. Your Passive Perception is reduced by 5. You suffer 10 + your Vampire Blood modifier radiant damage per round while in the sunlight.

Running Water Sensitivity: While standing in running water you suffer the following disadvantages: any Perception, Investigation, Survival checks you make is made with Disadvantage. Any Attacks you make are made with Disadvantage. You suffer 10 + your Vampire Blood modifier acid damage per round while in running water.

Silver for Monsters: You are Vulnerable to any attacks made against with Silver Weapons.

REMOVING VAMPIRISM

To remove Vampirism, a simple Remove Curse spell won't simply do it. If a creature casts Remove Curse spell on you, they have to roll a d20 adding their Spellcasting Bonus. They have to roll higher than your Vampirism DC (which is 10 + your Vampire Blood modifier).

OPTIONAL RULES

In my Campaign I use an optional rule when a player reaches a Vampire Blood modifier of 10. When the Vampire manages to infect 10 humanoids, the Lord of the Vampires visits them in their Dreams. If you want a stats reference for such a creature, I use Camazotz from Tome of Beasts. The Lord of the Vampires will then attempt to make a deal with the Vampire. The details of the deal are up to the GM of course. Here's what I use. The Vampire will become a Higher Vampire. Which means that they ignore all the disadvantages of Vampirism (Sunlight Sensitivity, Running Water Sensitivity, Silver for Monsters). In return, they have to infect 100 more humanoids. If they do not work towards infecting the humanoids, then the Lord of the Vampires will give them a warning. If they ignore the warning, they will face Lord of the Vampires alone, possibly dying. But being a Higher Vampire comes with one more burden...

COST OF HIGH VAMPIRISM

A High Vampire is a really powerful creature. Few can say that they lived after fighting one. The disadvantages of being a High Vampire are the following.

- After infecting 20 humanoids your appearance starts to change to that of a bat. The changes are minor. Your iris turns black, you have a hairier back, your ears are pointier etc.
- After infecting 40 humanoids your transformation to a bat creature is almost complete. Your limbs become flightlesswings and you resemble a humanoid bat, making social interactions extremely difficult.
- After infecting 60 humanoids you lose the ability to speak with humans. You can still understand them but you cannot talk. Instead you can now talk to animals.
- After infecting 80 humanoids you start losing your sanity to instinct. Everyday you have to make a Wisdom Saving Throw (DC 10). If you fail the DC, your are conquered by an extreme hunger for blood. You have to spend your day hunting down humanoids. You cannot take actions that will not directly help you infect more people. On the next dawn you get to make the saving throw again.
- After infecting 100 humanoids you completely lose yourself to the will of the Lord of the Vampires. You are now a simple but extremely powerful puppet to them. The High Vampire lives only to serve the Lord.

Of course the High Vampire can attempt to avoid infecting humanoids. But if they choose to do so, the Lord of the Vampires, as I previously stated, will deal with them personally and that might mean a character death.

FINAL WORD & LEGAL STUFF

You can, of course, make any changes you want to my version of Vampirism, these are just guidelines to help you deal with a player being infected with the curse. If you want to check a similar guide about Lycanthropy check my guide by clicking here. If you want to check more of my stuff click here or on the Inanimis logo.

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS, D&D, Wizards of the Coast, Forgotten Realms, the dragon ampersand, Player's Handbook, Monster Manual, Dungeon Master's Guide, D&D Adventurers League, all other Wizards of the Coast product names, and their respective logos are trademarks of Wizards of the Coast in the USA and other countries. All characters and their distinctive likenesses are property of Wizards of the Coast. This material is protected under the copyright laws of the United States of America. Any reproduction or unauthorized use of the material or artwork contained herein is prohibited without the express written permission of Wizards of the Coast. ©2016 Wizards of the Coast LLC, PO Box 707, Renton, WA 98057-0707, USA. Manufactured by Hasbro SA, Rue Emile-Boechat 31, 2800 Delemont, CH. Represented by Hasbro Europe, 4 The Square, Stockley Park, Uxbridge, Middlesex, UB11 1ET, UK.

