

INJECTION OF DAWNPOISON

INJECTION OF DAWNPOISON

Uncommon Poison

Damage. 1 Piercing

Into the Bloodstream. The syringe is a simple melee weapon and has the Light and Finesse properties.

On a successful attack you may inject the contents of the syringe into the bloodstream of a creature. The creature has to make a Constitution saving throw (DC 15). On a failed save they receive 4d6 Poison damage and become vulnerable to Radiant damage. On a successful save they only take half damage.

If the target is immune to radiant damage they become resistant. If the target is resistant to Radiant damage they lose the resistance.

The poison lasts for 1 hour or until cured. A creature can only be affected once with this poison every 24 hours. This poison only works if it is injected directly into the blood through a syringe.
