Gifts for Barbarians

They may be fierce warriors from primitive origins, but that doesn't mean that barbarians don't appreciate a well thought out gift as much as the next person. Aurora's Whole Realms Emporium stocks a wide range of gifts that show a tasteful appreciation of tribal customs and sensibilities.

Bottomless Stocking

Price 5 cp; Weight —

This stocking is designed to conceal a bag of holding within it. Shock and amaze your family and friends with the stocking that keeps on giving.

Aurora's Note: Bag of holding not included.

Custom Engraving

Price 1 sp; Weight —

What is a barbarian without their stout weapon? What better way to celebrate the bond between a barbarian and their steel than with a custom engraving? Engravings vary in price depending on the size and detail of the work. A small, simple engraving—roughly the size of a coin—costs 1 silver piece, while an intricate engraving covering an axe head could cost as much as 100 gold pieces.

Greataxe Cozy

Price 2 sp; Weight 1 lb.

Give your barbarian something for the love of their life: their greataxe. And what a great axe it is! Surely you have something to owe that magnificent weapon, and more than a handful of harrowing stories about its amazing sharpness and heft. But do not envy the relationship the barbarian and greataxe have together. Rather, exult in it by sharing in the glow of its glory.

Find yourself a mate that looks at you the way that the barbarian looks at their greataxe. Until then, though, keep that greataxe at its greatest by bestowing your battle companion with this thoughtfully crafted axe cloth.

Greataxe cozies come in a variety of shapes, sizes, and with specialized anti-cutting axe-head cloth coverings that are guaranteed throughout the life of your axe, or your barbarian, whichever expires first.

Aurora's Note: This description may have been edited by our resident axe-lover. Don't take her word for it!

Nettle Tea

Price 10 cp; Weight 1 lb.

Our aromatic nettle tea comes in a bag containing a pound of dried leaves, ready for crushing and steeping. We stock a wide variety of regional variants, ensuring you'll find that nostalgic taste of a home far away.

Old Grumpy Bastard

Price 5 gp; Weight —

This small bottle of cologne spray smells of stale tobacco, dusty sawdust, strong rotgut, and the open road. It is the perfect scent for the lone hero who wants to push their masculinity over the brink.

Red Cape

Price 4 gp; Weight 2 lb.

This fine red woolen cape is lined with white fur and is extremely comfortable in cold weather. Bells can be added for an additional 2 gold pieces.

Aurora's Note: We cannot guarantee the use of a pilgrim's compass for any sort of serious navigation, especially at sea. Refunds and recalibrations are available for any now missing landmarks. For the master of combat, the greatest gifts are arms and armor, and while Aurora's does stock a wide selection of gear for war, we also offer more personal gifts for the fighter in your life.

The ABCs of Fighting

Price 3 sp; Weight 1 lb.

Fighting is hereditary—or that's our theory, anyway. But we aren't here to sell you a controversial statement; we are here to sell you a children's book about fighting. Do you want to encourage your tike to take up a pike? Are you a retired fighter that would like to pass the torch on to the next generation? Do you know a violent child that needs to channel their energy positively? We have the book for you! Written and illustrated by Matilda Runescar, these books share a generous but child-friendly view of the virtues of fighting. Don't dismay, we aren't peddling violence; the views this book seeks to spread are those of virtue and valor, and the occasional search for glory. Look for our series of children's books as other gift ideas in this very catalogue!

Culinary Comforts

Once again, we turn to Passetout for his culinary skills. As always, please remember that Passetout tends to wax poetic about his dishes, as he is, in his own words, a “gourmand extraordinaire” and not one that’s likely to keep things brief.

Welcome, dear readers, to Passetout’s corner of the Aurora’s Whole Realms Catalogue, where we bring you the delicacies of the Realms in an easily portable manner, with my very personal recommendations on how to cook your meals. While many would expect these dishes to be ones that warm you up (and some do), I have chosen to focus mostly on those that are possible to cook in a wintry environment, where heat and cooking fires are precious.

Beshaban Bouillabaisse

Price 1 sp; Weight 1/2 lb.

A bitter yet hearty dish made of Sword Coast grass and moss. A quarter serving is enough to sustain a fully grown human for a day and stave off the worst effects of exhaustion.

It has the unfortunate side effect of often bringing misfortune to those who eat it.

Included in the packet is the recipe for the dish and enough ingredients and spices to serve 4 people. Restocking it is a simple matter when in the northern Realms.

Aurora’s Note: Consuming the beshaban bouillabaisse gives advantage on the next Constitution saving throw made against any effect that causes exhaustion, as long as the save is made within 2 hours. The person consuming the bouillabaisse must roll 1d4 and subtract the number rolled from any attack rolls made within that hour (as per the bane spell). Furthermore, in campaigns using random encounters, the consumer is 10% more likely to have a random encounter in the wilderness (though urban environments remain the same).

Basilisk Eggnog

Price 1 gp; Weight —

Named after the legendary creature, though it does not contain basilisk eggs. Hunting for these creatures' eggs is extremely dangerous and should be avoided by all but the most adventurous types. Instead, this consists of milk, cream, sugar, whipped egg whites, and egg yolks. It is best served cold, so we have added a tiny bit of the same liquid used for the icicle pops, which keeps the mix cool at all times. Finally, to this is added a touch of dwarven brandy from the Great Rift.

This drink has been powdered through alchemical processes and all the partygoer needs to add is a touch of milk and mix.

Aurora's Note: Due to the dwarven brandy in the basilisk eggnog we recommend that this is not given to those with a poor constitution. The internal warmth generated by the drink helps to stave off fatigue, lowering your fatigue level by 1. You cannot gain this advantage again until after a long rest.

Chocolate Covered Cherries

Price 4 sp; Weight 1 lb.

Another Christmas delicacy, these inspired treats are just as they say: cherries, covered in syrup and coated in chocolate. The combination is a flavor sensation you won't soon forget! Pairs well with one of our hot drink mixes!

Holiday Meal

Price 5 gp; Weight 10 lb.

This is the big one. Every seasonal holiday celebration usually ends with a huge meal for the entire family, but no one wants to be left to cook it. This is the solution to all your troubles. It comes in many flavors and options, for each season, but the typical winter holiday meal contains the following (and enough to comfortably feed 8 people):

- A goose, duck, or turkey
- Fresh white bread
- An assortment of vegetables (usually potatoes, carrots, peas, and lettuce, sometimes maize, rice, or turnips)
- Brown gravy or cranberry sauce
- Stuffing for the bird
- Roast pork or beef
- A local traditional dessert, such as delicious cheese and cracker combinations in Ch-essenta

All of these items come pre-packaged in an enchanted crate. Once the crate is opened, step back and wait five minutes. The food is then prepared magically and ready to serve out of the box.

Holiday Wreath

Price 2 cp; Weight —

This festive wreath is meant to be placed on your door, or on the dinner table, and can bring good luck! Wreaths come pre-decorated with a variety of holiday symbols and lovely bells, which turn the entrance of your home into a jolly one!

Honey and Lemon Mix

Price 3 sp;
Weight —

When you get those cold weather sore throats, we have the solution. Keep one of our honey and lemon mix packs nearby, add hot water, and drink away the soreness. Tasty, practical, and compact! Always travel with our delicious honey and lemon mix!

Icicle Pop

Price 1 sp; Weight —

I was recently introduced to the esteemed Elminster of Shadowdale by Volo, and in a fantastical conversation about other worlds (which I, being the epitome of discretion, can of course not expand further upon), he revealed that certain worlds consider frozen cream and flavored water to be excellent treats, so I had to try my own hand at this. What I came up with was the icicle pop.

This kit does NOT come with a recipe, as it is a closely guarded secret, but it contains a bottle of the secret liquid and a small cauldron for you to use. All you need to provide is an icicle. Simply dip the icicle in the secret liquid and, within a minute, it'll change color and taste to match your choice of icicle pop. There is enough liquid in the container to cover approximately 100 icicle pops.

Aurora's Note: The icicle pop comes in many flavors, ranging from strawberry to raspberry, through to mango, orange, and carrot. More exotic flavors may be available in your local store. We strongly recommend that you do not put your fingers into the secret liquid, as it has been known to cause frostbite (dealing 1d4 cold damage per round of exposure). The use of a full vial of the secret liquid is enough to put out a normal-sized campfire.

Netherese Fruitcake

Price 1 gp; Weight 2 lb.

Netherese fruitcake uses an ancient recipe, dating back to a few hundred years before the fall of the ancient empire after which it is named. Even today, it's possible to find examples baked during the golden age of Netheril.

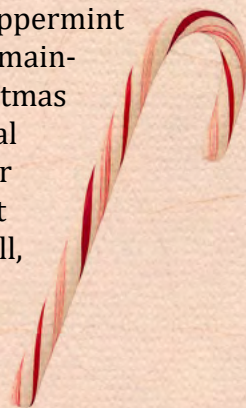

It is a fairly sweet cake, with mixed fruit and berries inside (based upon the region of your local Aurora's outlet). It is then baked in a secret manner to preserve the cake. Once sealed inside the box, it is ready for you to enjoy. Each cake is packaged in a portable, wooden box.

Aurora's Note: While the fruitcake is not to everyone's taste, it is extremely durable. It never goes off and can be eaten hundreds of years after it was baked. We do recommend checking your fruitcake for maggots and the like, if your cake is not a recent purchase.

Peppermint Stick

Price 5 cp; Weight 1 lb

This candied peppermint stick is another mainstay of the Christmas celebration ritual and is perfect for stirring your hot drinks. Best of all, they leave you feeling minty fresh!

Purple Dragon Porridge

Price 4 cp; Weight 2 lb.

This particular dish comes to us from both an envoy of Yamun Khan and some of the noble purple dragons of Cormyr. The envoy brought with him rice from Kara-tur, the lands beyond the endless wastes. When boiled in cream it turns into a thick porridge that requires plenty of salt, and a pinch of cinnamon. To this is added the dragons' offering of a cup of chopped and pre-boiled beetroot, which adds a sweet touch to it. (I'll admit, it is hard to believe that beets of all things, can turn into sugar when treated right — Aurora).

This also turns the dish into a purple mix which, admittedly, doesn't look particularly enticing. The whole mix is boiled for half an hour, and served warm, with cinnamon and a scoop of butter on top.

Aurora's Note: The beets and the rice in this come prepackaged, along with a sachet of cinnamon. Butter must be added by the cook separately. Eating a bowl of purple dragon porridge grants you advantage on your next saving throw against being frightened, within one hour of consuming the dish.

Stay Frosty Powder

Price 1 gp; Weight —

Stay frosty powder is an invention coming to us from Halruaa. This white powder was created by a somewhat eccentric patron of Aurora's one winter, when his grandkids lamented the fact that the traditional family snowman was not a real thing.

The powder must be spread across a snowman while under the moonlight, and the magic takes a few hours to take effect. This creates a creature known as Frosty, a friendly snowman who instinctively seeks out the creatures who created him, and will play with them for an entire day.

Frosty has the same stats as a goblin from the Monster Manual, except it is Medium size, Lawful Good, and never attacks.

At the end of the day, Frosty returns to his original position and form as a lifeless snowman. If the powder is reapplied later, Frosty reawakens and retains his memories from before. Once the snowman melts though, that particular Frosty is gone forever.

Yolk Drink Mix

Price 2 sp; Weight —

We give to you the necessary spices and a recipe card for a delicious beverage treat that includes egg. You supply the egg. Make sure to boil it for good health! Great at parties with a splash of spirits.

Minor Magical Marvels

Within this bazaar of magical wonders, you'll find those small magical items that make the season pass with festive cheer. They help and delight, and bring that extra bit of magic to your festive season.

Black Bag

Price 1 sp; Weight 2 lb.

Black bags are for those who have finished up their festivities, but have food left over. Simply put any leftover food into the bag (each bag holds 2 pounds of food), preferably split by type to make it easier for yourself in the future, and then seal the bag with the string provided. Once sealed, the food inside is kept at a steady temperature, and prevents the food from spoiling for a fortnight. Once the fortnight has passed, normal processes resume, and the food starts to go bad at the normal speed, even if transferred to a new bag.

Aurora's Note: Enterprising adventurers have asked if it's possible to stuff members of their adventuring party into the bags, if they have died. This would, in theory, be possible, but the bags only hold two pounds each—the magic involved makes bigger bags impossible, as the cost becomes prohibitive. Certain, less than scrupulous, adventuring types have used them as trophy bags for those occasions where a severed head is required as proof of a kill.

Enchanted Mistletoe

Price 1 gp; Weight 1 lb.

Enchanted only by name, mistletoe is normally poisonous to most humanoid, but here at Aurora's we have managed to cultivate a non-poisonous version with the help of the druids of the High Forest.

Mistletoe is a sign of compassion and love on many worlds, and at least one world has a legend where the mistletoe plant helped restore a goddess of love's son to life, after an accident killed him. Overjoyed that the plant helped restore her son, the goddess promised that she would bless anyone who kissed under the mistletoe. However, that legend is disputed, even on the planet where the legend was born, but the kissing tradition has spread across the multiverse.

Those who are not a couple, but who are found together under the mistletoe, should prepare themselves for kissing. Meanwhile, those who are couples are said to be blessed for the next year and will have only happiness.

Aurora's Note: We do not guarantee anything more than temporary happiness to be found from kissing under the mistletoe, but we have many stories from happy customers about the events taking place under this plant. Due to our sworn secrecy, we can of course not reveal any details, but rest assured that you have a good chance, under the right circumstances, to leave the presence of mistletoe in a better mood than when you arrived.

Gnome-in-a-Home

Price 5 sp; Weight 1 lb.

The gnome-in-a-home is more of a tradition, especially around Tethyr, involving a small figurine, made from fine cloth and dressed in the traditional clothing of the region. Each night, in the days leading up to the holiday, parents will move him around the house, coming up with stories for the children about the gnome's previous night's exploits.

The gnome-in-a-home comes in two versions. The regular version is a well-crafted doll or toy, about 10 inches tall, with a poseable body (due to the copper skeleton inside the doll). It is soft and safe for children of all ages, and comes with a book of 20 short stories and blank pages to write your own gnome diary.

The superior gnome-in-a-home has a minor enchantment that allows parents to record a story, and have the gnome read it back the next time it is activated. It will record any simple gestures and movements made by the reader. It cannot record a story more than 15 minutes long.

Aurora's Note: Using a gnome-in-a-home to secretly record conversations may be against the law in your region.

Holiday Cheer

Price 1 sp; Weight 1 lb.

Decorate the halls with boughs of holly and more, all with one box.

Holiday cheer comes in a gaily wrapped package, complete with white wrapping paper and red ribbon. All that you need to do is to pull the ribbon open and utter the command word, which is written on a small greeting card that comes with each package. This sets into motion a number of things. First, the package explodes with a pop and the blaring of festive trumpets. Then, decorations such as evergreen garlands full of fresh winter flowers and bright red baubles explode across the room. All of this is enhanced by the aroma of freshly baked goods to spread the cheer of the holidays.

Aurora's Note: The holiday cheer does contain a certain amount of magic, equivalent to the prestidigitation spell. Once opened, the package cannot be reused.

Holiday Helper

Price 100 gp; Weight 2 lb.

A holiday helper is straight from Lantan, and is a Tiny mechanical brass gnome that can help with little chores around the house. The holiday helper can perform simple tasks that a human servant could do, such as fetching things, cleaning, mending, folding clothes, lighting fires, keeping guard, serving food, and pouring wine. Once you give the command, which must be done verbally, the helper performs the task to the best of its ability until it completes the task, then waits for your next command. The holiday helper is mindless, so it will continue its task even if it brings it to destruction.

Each holiday helper has a small key, used for winding it up. Winding it up takes 1 minute, and allows the helper to operate for 30 minutes.

A holiday helper has the following stats and is treated as if it was animated by the animate objects spell:

Armor Class 14, Hit Points 10
Str 4, Dex 12; Attack +1 to hit,
1d3 damage

Aurora's Note: We advise our customers to keep an eye on their holiday helper. Aurora's is not liable for any damage or issues arising from the use of this automaton.

Naughty or Nice List

Price 1 gp; Weight —

The naughty or nice list is a simple piece of parchment with no writing on it, except for a single line where a person's name is to be written, along with a date. Once the name and date are added, two columns appear, one marked naughty and one marked nice. Thereafter, whenever the person whose name appears on the paper performs a naughty or nice act, a tally is made on the paper.

The paper only works while the subject is within 5 miles, and only for a year from the day the inscription of the name and date is added.

Aurora's Note: Aurora's is not the final arbiter of what is naughty and nice, as, when the name and date are inscribed on the paper, the person writing the name makes a psychic imprint on the paper that determines whether a particular act is naughty or nice. For example, if the (usually) child steals apples, and that is against the (usually) parents line of thinking, a tally mark will appear in the naughty list. On the other hand, if they think nothing of it, no mark will appear. Finally, if they think it's a good act, a tally mark will appear in the nice column.

One-More-Round

This drink comes in pre-made, sealed vials, and is a real pepper-upper. Available in a variety of fruity flavors and colors, they are just the thing to keep you going after a long trek through an arduous dungeon. Simply drink this vial and be instantly refreshed!

Aurora's Note: Drinking one of these drinks counts as a short rest, but drinking more than one before a long rest can have serious consequences. Subsequent doses leave the user refreshed for one hour, but after the hour passes, they are poisoned until they've had a long rest.

White Elephant

Price 10 gp; Weight —
For those who didn't get what they want for Christmas. This stuffed elephant toy is stark white and will excite and delight people, and shift the attention to you!

Aurora's Note: Did you get a white elephant as a gift? Bring it in for a 9 gold piece credit towards any purchase in our catalogue. Use the covetous powers of the white elephant responsibly.

Wild Hat

Cup and Ball

Price 1 sp; Weight —

A game of hand-eye coordination. This elegant yet simple game consists of a ball attached to a string, attached to a cup on a stick! Don't let the description fool you; this game of skill can be fun for all ages! Ask the nobles and philosophers of Cormyr! For those of you who dress to impress, consider getting a fancy cup and ball set in bronze or silver!

Dwarven Stocking Fillers

Price 2 sp; Weight 2 lb.

These lumps of coal are soaked in alchemical liquids and powders. They maintain the look of coal, but when exposed to an open flame for more than a ten-count, they explode into a miniature firework, of a thousand colors. They are often given by dwarven parents who wish to entertain their young ones on holidays, but also to teach them the lesson that even the ugliest lump of coal can contain something pretty and valuable, in effect the dwarven version of "don't judge a book by its cover."

Elven Stockings

Price 10 gp; Weight —

Elven stockings are, perhaps not surprisingly, named by humans. They are created from a very light-weight type of Shou Lung silk, that clings enticingly to the curves of anyone wearing them. They are traditionally dyed red or green, but can come in any color that the customer prefers, though some may take 1–3 days to be ready from time of order.

The stockings are warm enough to serve as normal pantaloons, but their main function is appearance, being designed to stoke the embers of passion in even the grouchiest dwarf, when they see their partner in this get-up.

Holiday Candies

Price 1 cp; Weight 1 lb.

Holiday candies are specific to each region. However, here at Aurora's, we believe in giving as many people as possible access to other cultures, so at your local Aurora's you can pick up the candies and treats from land at least a thousand miles away, all in a box of assorted candies. These have been individually wrapped in wax paper and kept cool during transportation to ensure that you get the best taste experience possible.

Aurora's Note: If you wish for a particular type of holiday candy, please consult your local Aurora's clerk, who will order it in for you.

Nutcracker

Price 1 sp; Weight —

This toy soldier is made of wood, and is actually a finely crafted extractor of hard shelled nuts! This adorable wooden doll will be a conversation piece, and may even act as a good luck charm, warding your home from misfortune. What's not to like?

Aurora's Note: It is not possible to accommodate all races, as some races are notoriously difficult to please, and toys that are appropriate for these races might be harmful to humanoids.

*Your degree of satisfaction may vary.
