“In Exotic Materials we don’t have problems. We have doors that are not yet open to us — a ‘problem’ presents endless branching paths; ‘doors’ are binary. Open and shut. The tyranny of the problem lies in the impossible breadth of possibility — a useless framing for tinkerers and hobbyists with time to fret over ethics as-defined by calcified, hand-wringing institutions. EX-MAT instead is solutions-focused: there is no such thing as a problem, only a door, and the question: can we open it, or do we have to bash it down?”

For the Emperor we had to bash the door down. Ugly process but the content beyond the door is more than worth it: Syncretic subjectivities, induced gestalt manifestation, H-NHP ontologic bridging, superpositional defensive lensing — look at what the battering ram gave us and tell me you’d rather puzzle out a problem then bash down the door.

Progress. The Corpro has always been about progress. Humanity has always been about progress. In service of progress, one must accept the necessity of teleological suspension, for it gives us wondrous, necessary things.

What else is there to say? Long live the Emperor, for in its creation did we find the method by which to fling open every locked door. Wondrous things are coming, and I’m glad as hell that they’ll be under our control.”

Dominion's Breadth

"Our first door in was not, as we thought, from the subject's neural mapping, but from an image of one of the igneomemetic samples returned by Perfect Execution during their deployment — Darius 1.11: The Golden Fulcrum. With it, we were able to crack the gestalt and begin to translate [Witness]; finding our way into the subject followed shortly thereafter.

"A curious note: both records used to reconstruct the Emperor's subjective superstructure — the Darius and Cyrus memetics — include āyāt from the pre-Meccan Reconstruction Quran, likely from Crisis-era human-egregorian interaction."

2 SP, Quick Tech, Overshield, Shield, Unique

A hostile character in sensor range and line of sight gains overshield 4. When this overshield is lost for any reason, that character releases an electric pulse in a burst 1 area around them. All characters caught within, including the original character, must pass a systems save or take 4 AP energy damage and become impaired until the end of their next turn, or half and not impaired on a successful save.

Bolt Nexus

"But they denied him and hamstrung her. So their Lord brought down upon them destruction for their sin and made it equal/And he does not fear the consequences thereof."

*— Witnessed from the Cyrus 2.14 ferromemetic

EXMAT Note: crossref\(TRUE\): Quran, Surah 91:14-15 "ash-Shams" (pre-Meccan Reconstruction).*

Main Nexus

Smart

Range 10

1 Energy Damage

Once this weapon hits a character, it gains Range 20 and the Seeking and Reliable 3 tags against that character only until you attack a new character with this weapon.

The Imperial Eye

Darius was the door in; Cyrus was the map. Navigation through the subject's parasubjective topography was proven on paper. Using a particularized human-nonhuman ontologic bridge, EXMAT was able to demonstrate gestalt manifestation in test pilots; with help, we can do what they do — and do it better.

The walls between us and what comes next fall down. The work continues.

2 SP, Quick Tech, Shield

An allied character in sensor range gains a Disruptive Charge until the start of your next turn. When a hostile character moves to a space within range 3 of that character, the charge sparks to that character. Characters that start their turns within range 3 of the charged character are unaffected until they move outside of that area and re-enter it.

The character struck by the charge must pass an engineering save or take 1 energy damage, be knocked back 2 spaces, knocked prone, and shredded until the end of their next turn.

Shahnameh

"Be recorded in my book of Kings; live into forever and beyond."

— translated gestalt from the Cyrus Omega ferromemetic, no pre-contact text associated; likely a subject-original imperative/corrective impulse.

2 SP, Full Tech, Overshield, Shield

An allied character in sensor range and line of sight gains Overshield 6. While they have this Overshield, they are resistant to Heat inflicted by other characters.

Āyah of the Syzygy

*"So where are you going? Is it not except a reminder to the worlds
For whoever wills among you to take a right course."*

— Witnessed from the Darius 4.8 igneomemetic*

*EXMAT Note: crossref(TRUE): Quran, Surah 81:26-28 "at-Takwir" (pre-Meccan Reconstruction)

2 SP, Quick Action, System, Unique

Create a blast 2 area in range and line of sight that lasts until the end of the scene or until you take this action again. 1/turn when a hostile character in this area is hit by a ranged or melee attack, they release a discharge of energy. All hostile characters at least partly in the area, including the original character, take 1 energy damage.

The Walk of Kings

"VERILY we established HIS power on earth and We gave HIM the ways and means to all ends."

— Witnessed from the Darius 5.10 igneomemetic*

*EXMAT Note: crossref(TRUE): Quran, Surah 18:84 "al-Khaf" (pre-Meccan Reconstruction). Fascinating that this should appear from the gestalt — human/egregorian interaction on Hercynia post-Crisis must have been quite developed for this (and previous) excerpts to be so deep-set. Encouraging signs for further development.

4 SP, Full Tech, Overshield, Shield, Unique

An allied character in sensor range and line of sight gains overshield 6. While they have this overshield, all their melee attacks gain the AP tag, and the first time each turn that they either hit with a melee attack or take damage from a hostile character, they release a burst 1 AOE centered on them. All other characters caught within take 1 Energy damage.
