

Russian Tank Brigade

December, 1941

Tank
Brigade

In December, the Russians decide to pare their tank brigades down even further. The recon battalion was dropped and the number of light tanks was reduced, although the improved T-60 was now performing the light tank role. Specialized tank-riding SMG companies make their first appearance.