How to Use this Book

Presented in this book is a collection of quests or adventure ideas for the use in fantasy tabletop role-playing games.

This small volume has a dual purpose. The first purpose is to cut down gamemaster prep time. Once we have families, jobs, and other commitments in our lives, time becomes more precious than ever. The second is to help gamemasters provide interesting adventures for their players. We all need a spark of creativity once in a while and that is what these ideas are meant to do.

The ideas are organized by a broad topic and are placed in a random table format. Each table has one hundred ideas. You can use these adventure ideas to run RPG sessions in a number of ways.

You can read through the tables and choose an idea. You can take several ideas and combine them into one scenario for a campaign. You can roll randomly on a table to find an adventure on the fly. You can also use these ideas as side quests within your own campaigns.

The first six tables contain ideas that range from story hooks to scenarios to globe-spanning adventures. These tables are organized under the topics: Dungeons Hooks, Royal Quests, Forest Quests, Doorways to Another World, Town Quests, and Sea Quests.

The next three tables are as follows: Questing Beasts, Quest Objects, and Lost Cities. Here you will find the name of a thing and a bit of context. These are meant to be used as the goal of the quest. How the goal is attained is up to the gamemaster.

Meta-Quests is the last table in the book. It is a list of simple ideas that can be used as micro-quests much like collecting feathers in Angry Birds or bobbleheads in the Fallout videogames.

It is my sincere hope that this book is the kindling that inspires gamemasters to ignite a roaring flame of fantasy adventures.

Dungeon Hooks

Dungeon Hooks

1. The town's well has gone dry. Strange sounds can be heard from below. The town set up a guard around it, but no one will investigate. The party is hired to check it out. Once down in the well, they notice the water has been diverted and the caverns lead to a dungeon.
2. The party is magically transported into the center of an ancient dungeon. They must fight their way from the inside out. They find clues along the way revealing both the identity of the person who imprisoned them and their location.
3. The party finds a magic item at the bottom of a sinkhole. It leads the party to an evil wizard's tower and dungeon.
4. A black stone falls out of the sky and hits one character on the head. The stone starts exhibiting strange characteristics. It flashes whenever it's pointed in a certain direction. It leads the players to a dungeon.
5. A small creature steals one character's prize possession and runs off with it. When the party gives chase, it leads them down through the woods into a secret grotto. There is a small waterfall and cave. If they venture into the cave they find that orcs are spoiling the idyllic nature of the caves and polluting the grotto. If they slay the orcs, the creature appears, thanks them, and returns the stolen item.
6. Along the path, there are signs of a struggle. Drops and spatters of blood lead off into the woods. If the party follows the trail of blood, they come upon the cave-like entrance to a goblin lair. The lair is built in an old dungeon. The party will find the goblins holding several travelers hostage.
7. When relaxing in an inn, one character notices a neatly folded piece of parchment under their chair leg. It is a map to a dungeon.
8. A family has disappeared, and the party is asked to investigate. When they go to the family's home to explore it, they find a basement passage that leads down to a dungeon.
9. A wizard needs a vial full of swamp gas. In return to anyone who brings it to him, he will tell them of the location of an ancient ruin.
10. The tower of a long-dead robber baron is moldering and decaying. If any brave souls would to repair it, it would be a formidable stronghold. Of course, a dungeon is beneath it.
11. A businesswoman hires the party to clear a forest near a town. While they are clearing the forest, a chest is found with several important items inside. One of the items is a map to a legendary library. Their employer asks them to find the library.
12. An earthquake reveals the entrance to ancient ruins. The party is asked to investigate.
13. The old man who runs the herbalist shop asks the party to gather some rare plants. He tells them of a cave not too far from the town where he used to go. However, his old knees don't allow him to go there anymore. In exchange, he will give them some healing potions. Once the party arrives at the cave, they find some of the plants. However, it becomes quickly apparent that something suspicious is going on at the cave. There are bandits and some unsavory characters living deep inside the cave. The cave leads to a dungeon.

Dungeon Hooks

62. Upon waking up in the morning, each party member finds new items in their packs. The items are an iron key, a dagger with a gold hilt, a brass belt buckle, and a note. The items form a puzzle that leads them to help a queen in a faraway land.
63. The spirit of a long-dead elf princess appears over the watering hole where the party has stopped to rest. She tells them a sad tale of lost love and black betrayal. She entreats them to help her and free her from this grief and sorrow. Near the pool is some evidence of an ancient murder, and they are to take her bones to a resting place in the ancient city of the elves. But the journey will not be easy, and once they get there, the elves may not believe this tale. In fact, some may want the tale to remain a distant memory. For her murderer still lives and does not want to be exposed even though the murder happened more than 700 years ago.
64. Only one thing can free the young queen from the vile curse placed upon her. Only one thing can restore the kingdom. That thing can only be found in a hidden elf kingdom that no one knows how to find. Oh, there are stories. Oh, there are myths. Oh, there are rumors. But the time has passed for child's play and old wives' tales. The party must find this kingdom and find this item before all is lost.
65. A woman dressed in chainmail lies bleeding in the road. If any come to her aid, she slips a bracelet made of ruby and Jasper into their hand. The bracelet is covered with symbols and ancient writing. Only someone skilled in magic can read the writing. The writing tells her name and the name of the city from which she came. This legendary kingdom was located in a faraway land and the legend tells that whoever bears this bracelet shall be heir to the kingdom.
