

Thousands of Random "Cool" Last Names

One person or family in a single country or across the globe may have a particular last name. Some names in the following list may have become extinct. Others sound made up. As it is a randomized list in excess of 30,000 names, duplicates may abound. That aside, someone with an overarching obsession with onomastics might consider a dictionary or encyclopedia of names that have died out by decade, generation, or age. Many surnames perished, for instance, because of the Black Death in the 14th Century. Presently, Ajax et al are on the cusp of extinction, while there are no more Footheads, Pauncefoots, and precious few Pratts in England (unless, of course, one takes away a 't' and then there are millions of them still...Shouldn't have said that...).

This is not my work. I haven't the patience to sort, only the interest in what has been sorted.
