AUTHOR'S GRANT OF LIMITED REPRODUCTION RIGHTS

I, the author of this book, grant you, the owner of this book, the following limited rights of reproduction. You may print (via personal printer) or photocopy as many worksheets from this book as you need for your own personal use, including multiple copies of each worksheet. You may also reproduce copies or for use by members of your immediate family living in your household (spouse or significant other, parent, child). You may not make copies of any other portion of the book in any format (excluding the limited e-book rights granted below); nor may you make copies of any portion of the book, including worksheets, for roommates, friends, distant relatives, students, members of your writers' group, or anyone else, without my express written permission; nor may you include these worksheets in any derivative work. Doing so is a violation of copyright law.

- If you bought the e-book version of this text, I grant you the right to print out a single paper copy of the entire book for your personal use.
- If you're a public school teacher and you want to use materials from this workbook with your students, e-mail me at holly@hollylisle.com and we'll work out a copying arrangement based on the number of students for whom you wish to copy worksheets.
- Mark the page on which you find the printing permission notice, so that when you take your book to the copying center or your local library, you can show it to the person keeping track of what you copy. You'll save yourself grief by proving that you have the right to copy the worksheets before, rather than after, you've made the copies.
